SEVEN DELEGATES DESERT ELKIN TO AID PENNYPACKER

They Have Notified Senator Quay of Their Intention and Give Their Reasons. Looks Like a General Rout.

ALLEGHENY COUNTY MEN WILL BE FOUND IN LINE

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU, 905 Fifteenth St., N. W., WASHINGTON, D. C., June 4, 1902.

As it is becoming generally understood throughout the state that the Stone combine has been downed, Senators Quay and Penrose were kept busy today receiving telephone messages from those who are now anxious to get on the Pennypacker band-wagon. At least seven delegates who have been counted for Elkin, today notified Senator Quay that they would vote for the nomination of Judge Pennypacker.

They claimed that they were induced to support Mr. Elkin because they believed that he was the choice of the senator, and, as he is not, they do not propose to abide by their instructions. From the advices that are coming it is beginning to look like a rout for the Stone combine. During the past week they have received several hard jolts, but the worst one is now scheduled to strike them.

The Gazette is not at liberty to divulge particulars or give names, but it is in the possession of information that the entire Allegheny county delegation will be found in the Pennypacker column before another week rolls around. Recorder Brown and the other leaders of the county organization have decided it is for their best interest to be on the winning side in state politics and today Senators Quay and Penrose received assurances that they need not worry about the Allegheny county delegation of 36.

Many Pledge Support.

The exclusive announcement in The Gazette this morning that Senator Quay is a candidate for state chairman resulted in the senator receiving many telegrams commending his decision and pledging support.

No decision has as yet been reached upon the question of permanent chairman of the convention, but the indications point to the selection of Representative Sibley. He has not yet consented, but his friends are urging him to accept the honor, and there are indications that he will. It is pointed out that Mr. Sibley is comparatively unknown to the Republican workers of the state outside of the northwestern section, but that if he will accept the position and make a rattling address he will make himself strong when he wishes something in the future.

Ex-Lieut. Gov. Watres, after conferring at the capitol today with Senators Quay and Penrose and a number of his friends among the members of the delegation in the house, decided not to be a candidate for the position of permanent chairman, and he joined with others in urging Representative Sibley to accept.

Watres Still in the Game.

Mr. Watres also announced that he would remain in the contest for governor until the nomination was made, and intimated that his friends had good grounds for their claims that he would hold the balance of power in the convention and would be selected as the compromise candidate. He is counting on about 50 votes in the convention, with the others about equally divided between Pennypacker and Elkin. He is not in any way antagonizing the other factions and is on amicable terms with all the leaders. It is claimed that he has earned the nomination. By his early contest in the northeastern end of the state he kept Mr. Elkin from carrying that section solid and has thereby aided considerably in preventing his nomination.

The few friends of Mr. Elkin here are becoming downcast over the outlook, but are whistling to keep up courage. One of his leading supporters said today: "It is now a question of who has the largest barrel. We are well fixed in that direction."

Deputy Attorney General Fleitz came here this afternoon to infuse courage into the ranks of the few faithful ones. He had a lengthy conference with Representative Connell and assured him that Mr. Elkin was certain to be nominated on the first ballot.

Ready for Harrisburg.

Senator Penrose has delayed his departure for Harrisburg until Friday evening, but Col. W. R. Andrews will go there tomorrow night to open headquarters. Senator Quay may go there on Saturday, but still insists that he will not go until Sunday.

HARRISBURG, PA., June 4.—Alarmed at the alleged attempt by Judge Pennypacker's managers to break in on his instructed delegates Gov. Stone is making frantic efforts to steady the faltering Elkin lines. Everything possible is being done to prevent a stampede of delegates to Pennypacker when they reach Harrisburg to attend the state convention and are convinced by Senator Quay and other party leaders that Elkin cannot be nominated. State appointees have been instructed to claim that Elkin has received assurances from all his instructed delegates that they will stand by him to the end and that the alleged attempt to have them violate their instructions has proved an absolute failure.

"I am more confident of winning this fight today than at any time since my candidacy was announced," said Elkin tonight. "The people have taken up the issue and the result is no longer in doubt."

Claims of Stone Crowd.

Stone claquers claim that F. S. Logue, one of the uninstructed delegates from Potter county, has written to the attorney general pledging his support and that the attempt to induce one of his delegates in Franklin county to pledge himself for Pennypacker has been a failure.

William F. Hill of Crawford county, worthy master of the State Grange, was here today, and after talking with Gov. Stone and other state officials he allowed the Elkin bureau to issue a statement indorsing Elkin's candidacy.

Treasurer Harris has again found it necessary to defend himself against the accusations that the enormous state funds are being used to help nominate Elkin. "I have added only four small depositories to the sinking fund since I became state treasurer," said Harris tonight. "Two of these are banks in my own county in which the delegates were elected instructed and bound fast to Elkin before I became state treasurer. Mr. Elkin will be nominated, independent of the state treasury," Harris added. "Not one dollar of the state's money has been used by me to nominate or defeat anybody."

"BOOMERS" FOR ELKIN.

Plowboys and Miners from Schuylkill County Going to Harrisburg.

POTTSVILLE, PA., June 4.—(Special.) Three hundred "plowboys" in hay wagons and 2,000 miners mounted on mine mules will go to Harrisburg from this county next week to shout for Elkin.

It is expected that they will form a unique feature of the great parade next Tuesday night, and the friends of the "Indiana plowboy" hope that the demonstration will show that the striking miners are for Elkin. As the mines are idle, it will not be difficult to secure both the mules and the men.

C. H. HALCOMB OUT OF CRUCIBLE STEEL COMPANY

Reuben Miller Returns to Management as President.

FRANK B. SMITH TO BE HIS ASSISTANT

C. H. Halcomb is out as president and director of the Crucible Steel Company of America. In his place is Reuben Miller, one of the heaviest owners of shares of the company's stock, who, at the organization of the company, reluctantly became its treasurer, and about a month ago resigned this office and his place in the directorate, ostensibly because of illness.

The importance of this action is equaled in the tender made to Frank B. Smith, secretary of the company and a member of the directorate and of the executive committee of the new Railway Steel Spring Company of America, of the positions of assistant to the president and general manager, he at the same time to continue in his office as secretary.

Executives and officers of the Crucible company freely express their regret at the retirement of Mr. Halcomb, but hesitate to explain it. Mr. Halcomb was selected as the executive head of the company as one of the greatest American representatives of expert crucible manufactures. He obtained his early schooling in the business at the home of the crucible steel trade in England. The works at Syracuse, N. Y., of which he was the head, were regarded as the finest in the country.

FRANK BIDDLE SMITH,
Who Has Been Advanced to Still More Responsible Positions With the Crucible Steel Company.

It is positively asserted, although not officially, that the retirement of Reuben Miller from active participation in the affairs of the Crucible company about two months ago was brought about by differences between him and Mr. Halcomb. At that time Mr. Miller also resigned as a director and subsequently, according to this story, he returned as a director to be made president at this time, with the understanding that Mr. Halcomb would retire. The Crucible company directors met yesterday afternoon and subsequently the changes were announced.

Mr. Halcomb retires as a member of the directorate, not only of the Crucible company, but also the St. Clair Furnace, the St. Clair Steel and the St. Clair Limestone and other subsidiary concerns which are now being underwritten by the new Clairton Steel Company. The following list of officers was officially announced by the Crucible company yesterday:

Reuben Miller, president; Frank B. Smith, assistant to the president, general manager and secretary; Benjamin Atha, first vice president; R. E. Jennings, second vice president; James H. Park, third vice president; Charles E. Clapp, fourth vice president and general sales agent; Julius Bleier, treasurer.

For the Clairton Steel Company the following list of executives was announced: William P. Snyder, president and member of the executive committee, with these associates: Benjamin Atha, R. E. Jennings, Andrew W. Mellon, Frank B. Smith, James H. Park and Reuben Miller.

BRIBERY CHARGES CONNECTED WITH PUBLIC CONTRACT

HIGH PRICE FOR BRICK

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Butler, Pa., June 4.—A sensation has been caused here by the public allegations that bribery had been resorted to in securing the contracts for furnishing brick for the street paving at the last letting of contracts two weeks ago, and council has ordered an investigation. Six contracts for paving were awarded, and in five of the contracts Brady Run brick, made by the Pennsylvania Clay Company, were selected by the council. It is alleged that the price of brick was run up $1.30 per thousand, amounting to more than $1,000 on the five contracts, and that the money was used to purchase influence in favor of the Brady Run brick.

It is also alleged that part of the money went to certain councilmen, part to men in the town, and part to persons out of town. The attention of council was drawn to the nature of the allegations at the close of the regular meeting last night, by R. S. Cornelius, member from the third ward, who said he heard the stories and allegations on the streets and thought it proper that the members of council should know about them. If any one had been bribed council should know it, and if the members were innocent they had no right to let such charges go unchallenged.

The affair caused a sensation and many of the members expressed emphatic opinions as to the course to be taken. At a late hour a resolution was passed declaring it to be the concensus of opinion that a committee be appointed to investigate the charges and report to council at an early date. The committee appointed consists of R. S. Cornelius, J. D. Gibson and Isaac Meals.

It is said that reliable citizens are backing the bribery charges and that council has been retained for the purpose of prosecuting an investigation. The committee appointed by council has authority to unite with these citizens to assist in the investigation. No names were mentioned at the meeting last night and the names of the persons back of the charges have not yet been made public.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

CLEVELAND, June 4.—Miss Sarah Duncan, a niece of the late President McKinley, was married to George Herbert Winslow of Pittsburgh at 8 o'clock this evening. The Rev. Chauncey Goodrich of the Bolton Avenue Presbyterian church, officiated.

Only 75 intimate friends of the young couple attended the ceremony. The bride wore a magnificent gown of white crepe de chine over white taffeta. The maid of honor was her cousin, Miss Grace McKinley. Dr. Evyline Heard of Pittsburgh was the best man.

DEKOVEN BOYCOTTED.

Federation of Musicians Taboo His Music Because He Employs Non-Union Men in Band.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

BUFFALO, June 4.—At today's session of the American Federation of Musicians a national body, a delegation from Washington, introduced a resolution that members of all locals in the organization discontinue the use of Reginald de Koven's music.

It is alleged that Mr. De Koven in his symphony concerts at the capitol has drawn some of his musicians from the marine band. These men are enlisted men and non-union. The resolution was not adopted, but it was decided to refer the motion to the different locals with a request that they comply with its spirit.

CHICAGO RIOTS CAUSE WOUNDING OF 150 PERSONS

All Day Long Police Battle to Help Packers Deliver Beef.

SOME OF VICTIMS ARE LIKELY TO DIE

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Chicago, June 4.—Driven by men covered with dust and blood, many of them barely able from exhaustion to hold the reins in their hands, 36 meat wagons entered the main gates of the Union stock yards tonight amid a shower of stones, bricks, bottles and sticks. The wagons, guarded by five police wagons, filled with bluecoats, and two omnibuses, crowded to the fullest capacity with policemen, were on the return from a delivery of supplies to downtown provision houses, after one of the fiercest days in the strike of the beef packers' teamsters. It is estimated that 150 persons were injured during the day.

Many of the drivers, who are officials at the packing houses, were cut and bruised from head to foot. The police were in even worse condition. The wagon drivers had been working from 5 o'clock in the morning and their progress from the stock yards into the city's business district and back again had been contested bitterly by mobs of strike sympathizers.

At the very entrance to the stock yards tonight, after all seeming danger had passed, George June, an employe of the Anglo-American Packing Company, was struck by a baseball bat and knocked from his wagon. He was picked up unconscious and he may die. Many others were struck at the same time by a shower of stones, but the police were too worn out to offer resistance.

More than a dozen battles were fought during the day between the rioters and the police, and the hospitals tonight are overcrowded with the injured. The fiercest battle of the day took place this afternoon at Sixteenth street and Michigan avenue. The rioters stood on the viaduct and hurled rocks at the meat wagons passing underneath. The police were compelled to use revolvers. More than fifty shots were fired, the bullets passing over the heads of the crowd, which finally became frightened and scattered, but not until many of the rioters and policemen had suffered serious injuries.

A pitched battle occurred between 50 negroes, imported from St. Louis to take the places of strikers, and strike sympathizers at Fourty-fifth street and Center avenue, in which six negroes were badly injured, two possibly mortally. The substitutes were driving wagons when assaulted. One had his thigh broken and another was injured internally.

A conference was held tonight between representatives of the packers and the teamsters, looking to a settlement of the strike. President Frederick W. Job, chairman of the State Board of Arbitration, brought about the meeting. The strike of drivers of delivery wagons of the retail State street department stores was settled earlier in the day, and this formed the basis on which the opposing elements hoped to effect a compromise.

FIVE SHOT, TWO FATALLY.

Strikers Attack Imported Negro Workmen at Granite City, Ill., and Battle Results.

EDWARDSVILLE, Ill., June 4.—A riot broke out today between several hundred striking molders and non-union employes of the American Steel and Foundry Company.

Two negro non-union workers and three white strikers were shot, two of the latter fatally. One of the fatally injured is John Buffington, but the names of the others injured could not be learned, as they were hurried away by friends.

A train load of negroes, imported by the steel company, were proceeding through a narrow lane to the mills, when they were assailed with stones. Revolvers were brought into play and shots were fired by both sides.

RECORD EXPORTS OF PIPE ARE MADE BY TUBE COMPANY

Over Three Thousand Tons Sent to Foreign Ports During Last Month.

NAIL SHIPMENTS LARGE

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, June 4.—Over 3,000 tons of iron pipe were exported last month via eastern ports by the National Tube Company from its McKeesport plant, being an increase of nearly 50 per cent as compared with that concern's exports made during April.

Europe was the most important purchaser, 2,015 tons having been shipped to that part of the world, Antwerp alone taking five consignments, representing an aggregate of 1,583 tons. To the United Kingdom were forwarded 211 tons, three shipments, amounting to 155 tons, going to Liverpool. Shipments were also made to London and Hull. One hundred and eighty-seven tons went to Rotterdam and smaller lots were exported to Malta and Stettin. Four hundred and forty-six tons in one lot were forwarded to South Africa. Mexico took six shipments, making a total of 286 tons. To Australia, the Philippines, Chile, Buenos Ayres, Rosario, China and Japan were also consigned various quantities.

The American Steel & Wire Company from its Pittsburgh and other Pennsylvania plants forwarded last month, via eastern seaboard ports, nearly 7,500 tons of wire and wire nails to various foreign countries. Australia, South Africa, Europe, China and Japan were the principal customers.

TRIBUTE TO THE ARMY.

Senor Buencamino Pays a Handsome One and Tells How Aguinaldo's Jail Looks.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 4.—At the Philippine hearing today Mr. Jones commented on the fact that the witness, Senor Buencamino, who had changed his views, "enjoyed a fat office," while Aguinaldo was a prisoner. Senor Buencamino stated that he, as well as Aguinaldo, had been captured, and that the fact that he was alive today was due to the humanity of the American army.

The witness said that Aguinaldo had a palace for a prison. It was formerly occupied by Commissioner Worcester and the government paid $500 Mexican per month as rental for it. The witness said that Aguinaldo lived in this house with his family, with a physician at his disposal, a retinue of servants, a carriage and an allowance to provide food for the establishment.

Senor Buencamino resented the suggestion that a government officer had influenced his testimony to make it favorable to the United States, and declared that his law practice at Manila was worth $1,000 a month, so that the $290 paid him as salary could not have been an inducement to him to sacrifice his beliefs. He strongly opposed a colonial system, declaring that that system made Spanish rule a failure.

The president today made response to a resolution adopted by the senate at the instance of Senator Hoar, making inquiry as to whether there is any law in force in the Philippines preventing natives from coming to the United States. The president enclosed the following statement from Secretary Root:

"The war department knows of no law or regulation in force in the Philippine Islands which will prevent any native of those islands who may so desire, not under arrest and against whom no charge of any offense against the United States is pending, from coming to the United States and stating his views or desires to the president or either house of congress."

NO LAVA FLOWED FROM THE MONT PELEE CRATER.

Prof. Heilprin, Who Gazed Into the New Orifice, Says That the Height of the Mountain Remains Unchanged.

MADE TWO DARING TRIPS TO REACH THE SUMMIT

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

Fort de France, Martinique, June 4, 8 A. M.—Prof. Angelo Heilprin, president of the Philadelphia Geographical society, who is here for the National Geographical society, came into Fort de France last night from his explorations of the crater on the summit of Mont Pelee. Prof. Heilprin is well and in good spirits. He has rested from the fatigue of his last trip and is ready for more work.

The following important points have been settled by Prof. Heilprin:

"The location of the new crater has been accurately determined; it is positively known that there has been no overflow of molten matter from the lip of the crater; there has been no subsidence of the mountains, and the height of Mont Pelee is unchanged; the crater does not contain a cinder cone; there has been no cataclysm and no topographical alteration of the country. The period of violent eruptions has probably ended, although the volcano may continue to be quietly active for a long time to come."

Referring to his expedition, Prof. Heilprin said today: "I left Fort de France with Mr. Leadbetter the morning of May 29 and reached Acier at 7 o'clock in the evening of the 30th. We visited Vive and Basse Pointe. The latter place has been entirely destroyed by the overflow of the local streams. Mud flowing into the beds of the rivers there caused this overflow. Many important usines are seriously menaced by the floods.

"May 31 we made our first ascent of the volcano. We left Acier at 5:30 and Vivo at 7:30 o'clock in the morning. The party consisted of Mr. Leadbetter and myself and three colored boys. We were on muleback. At an altitude of 700 meters we began the ascent of the arete. We passed along its east side and slightly to the north of the mountain. We arrived at the lip of the old crater, the former site of Lake Palmiste, at 11 o'clock. Here it began raining.

Driven Back by Elements.

"Rain clouds and the clouds from the volcano enveloped us and we could not see 10 feet. A terrific thunderstorm had begun, and we sat on the edge of the crater for some time speculating whether the detonations we heard were of thunder or from the volcano. As we afterward found the River Falaise to be boiling the detonations were probably volcanic. We could not tell how near we were to the crater as, either from local attraction or the electric conditions, our compass refused to work. Its variation was about 20 degrees to the eastward, but later we found that it acted normally at the lip of the new crarter. The colored boys with us were horribly scared.

"We finally groped our way down that awful arete through gloomy clouds of rain and amid great electric discharges. At every step are dislodged the rain-soaked ashes, and were in danger of being precipitated down the hideous gorges on either side. The extreme top of the volcano is covered with cinders, scoriae, boulders and angular rocks which have been ejected from the crater. Further down the mountain is covered with ashes and mud and these are thick on the arete.

River Falaise Boiling.

"On our way down we saw the River Falaise rushing along with great velocity and full of steam and of mud. We reached Acier well, but soaked, caked with mud and very much disappointed. There we met Mr. George Kennan and his party and determined to attempt a second ascent the next day, June 1.

"The ascent made this day with Mr. Kennan was more trying and difficult than the one I had previously made with Mr. Leadbetter. The day was intensely hot and it was raining. When we reached the old crater it was again enveloped in vapor. The temperature of the basin of Lake Palmiste, taken three inches below the surface, was 124 degrees Fahrenheit. Between lifts in the clouds of vapor we could see the new crater, of which Mr. Varian made an excellent sketch. Suddenly the vapor cleared away and we made a dash forward. We reached the edge of the new crater, and from where we stood we could have dropped stones into the white-hot mass within.

At the New Crater.

"The new crater is a crevasse running north and south and expanding into a bowl. This crevasse nearly rifled the mountain; it runs transversely to the old crater, and might be called a huge gash. From it volcanic material has been freely erupted.

"As we stood on the edge of the crater a sublime spectacle began. I now have some conception of what is going on inside the earth, and have been a spectator of nature's secret work. We were assailed with noise. Far below there was a hissing of steam like that of a thousand locomotives, as well as violent detonations. The principal output of the crater, while we were there, was steam. The phenomena were limited and were not essentially different from those of other volcanoes in action.

"Positive assurance was gained that no molten matter has flowed over the lip of the new crater. Several observations taken with the aneroid barometer showed that the height of Mont Pelee has not been changed.

No Great Change Apparent.

"I agree with Prof. Robert T. Hill, the geologist of the United States government, that Mont Pelee has emptied no lava and that there has been no cataclysm nor any serious topographical alterations. No cinder cone was visible in the crater; what was taken for a cone is a pile of ejected rocks. Perhaps the bottom of the new crater may contain a cinder cone, but we could see down only about 150 or 200 feet. I believe, however, that the crater is very much deeper than this. I do not know the exact materials of which the pile of rocks in the center of the crater is composed, but it seems to be matter which has been ejected from the crevasse. This pile of rocks has no vent. I think Mont Pelee has freed itself from the interior pressure and that the volcano is not liable to further violent eruption. It is not safe, however, to make predictions about volcanoes.

"The eruption of Mont Pelee of May 8 was unique in that it resulted in the greatest destruction of life and property ever known by direct agency of a volcano.

Phenomena Strange Ones.

"The phenomenon of the explosion of flaming gas was is probably new, but a careful study of observations is necessary before an opinion can be reached. The electrical phenomena are also new. They probably did not play the chief role in the destruction of St. Pierre, but were developed by and aided the other forces. I have specimens which show the effects of the bolts of lightning. The latter were small and intense and penetrated within the houses of the city. For rapidity of action and for lives destroyed Mont Pelee holds the record among volcanoes.

"When we got back to Acier we found Mr. Jaccaci and Mr. Leadbetter, who had stopped on the Arete and had descended before us. Early in the morning of June 2 Mr. Kennan and his party left for Fort de France. Mr. Leadbetter and I went to Morne Rouge to study topographical details and from there we came back to Acier and Fort de France.

"I shall now join Mr. Kennan in exploring the Le Precheur region."

UNCLE SAM HAS NO OBJECTIONS TO MR. HERBERT

Question of Who Succeeds Lord Pauncefote Settled.

NEW MINISTER FROM SPAIN IS COMING

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Washington, D. C., June 4.—Great Britain today asked the United States if the appointment of the Hon. Michael Henry Herbert as the successor of the late Lord Pauncefote would be acceptable to this country, and Secretary Hay replied in the affirmative. This is regarded as a notification that Mr. Herbert will be the next British ambassador.

State department officials were prepared for the announcement of the appointment of Mr. Herbert. The London cables picked Mr. Herbert as the winner for this most coveted post just a week ago and this publication had virtual confirmation from the state department on Saturday, when a high official, with much satisfaction, said the appointment of Mr. Herbert was almost a foregone conclusion. This was a rather strong intimation to come from the American state department about a diplomatic appointment accredited to this country, but it was with even more satisfaction that a high official informed The Gazette today that the surmise was correct and that information of Mr. Herbert's selection had come by cable.

HON. MICHAEL HENRY HERBERT,
New Ambassador of Great Britain to the United States.

Secretary Hay knows Mr. Herbert as a gentleman, a scholar and a diplomat, and while any of the aspirants for the post that have been mentioned would have been acceptable the designation of Mr. Herbert will be specially gratifying. In view of the fact that Mrs. Herbert was an American woman the selection is supposed to settle for all time the objection which has been urged against the appointment of diplomats to the countries whose daughters they had married. Mrs. Herbert was Miss Leila Wilson of New York, daughter of R. T. Wilson, and a sister of Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr. Indeed, no one would be surprised if the fact of Mr. Herbert's having an American wife were one of the reasons which led to his selection.

Mr. Herbert is regarded here as one of the most accomplished diplomats in King Edward's service. He is secretary of the embassy at Paris and is spoken of here as having been practically ambassador there for a long time. It is not expected that Mr. Herbert will reach his new post until after the arrival of Lord Pauncefote's body in England and its final interment.

News has also reached here, as a distinct surprise, that the Duke de Arcos, the Spanish minister, is to be succeeded by Senor Odeja, who was secretary of the Spanish peace commission and is at present minister to Tangier. It is understood that the Duke de Arcos has secured his transfer to Brussels, where he can secure the best possible treatment for his impaired eyesight.

ELKIN DID NOT FIGURE AT ALL IN PHILADELPHIA

THE CONVENTIONS TODAY

Nominations That Will Be Made for Congress and for the State Senate. Insurance Commissioner Durham Makes Some Strong Statements.

By CHESTER D. POTTER,
Staff Correspondent.

Philadelphia, June 4.—Republican congressional, senatorial, representative and county primaries were held in Philadelphia this evening. The conventions will take place tomorrow. There was no surface interest apparent, as the results were a foregone conclusion. Local Elkin boomers had threatened a demonstration, but it did not materialize.

Eighty-six delegates to the Republican state convention will be elected at tomorrow's conventions and they will be instructed to support Judge Samuel W. Pennypacker for governor. The sentiment for the local jurist is not only strong, but it is practically unanimous. A candidate of the Pennypacker type, for obvious reasons, appeals to the people at this time. That he will be nominated on the first ballot at next Wednesday's convention is generally conceded here. His election even the Democrats regard as a certainty, and, with Senator Quay directing the canvass as chairman of the state committee, speculation will be confined to the question of majority.

The congressional nominations tomorrow will be: First district, H. H. Bingham; Second district, Robert Adams; Third district, Henry Burke; Fourth district, Robert H. Foerderer; Fifth district, Edward Morrell; Sixth district, George D. McCreary.

Delegation Changed Slightly.

The changes in the delegation are Foerderer, who was congressman-at-large and who succeeds Congressman James Rankin Young, and McCreary, who will represent the new district, created by the last apportionment.

The senators to be nominated are: Harvey Gransback, Second district; John T. Harrison, Fourth district; John M. Scott, Sixth district, and Horatio B. Hackett, Eighth district. Harrison was a member of the last house and succeeds J. Bayard Henry. Mr. Hackett succeeds David Martin. The members of the house to be nominated have been given in The Gazette, the only notable feature being the fact that only 15 out of the 39 who served in the last legislature are to be returned.

For county officers James L. Miles, chairman of the Republican city committee, will be nominated for sheriff, succeeding W. C. Hartman; coroner, Thomas Dugan, who succeeds himself; city Commissioners, Hugh Black and Jacob Wildemore; judge, Michael Arnold.

Insurance Commissioner Durham tonight made an emphatic denial of the statement that Judge Pennypacker would not be nominated and that Col. Quay was grooming a "dark horse" who would be uncovered at the proper time.

Sure for Pennypacker.

"Such stories are being circulated by Democrats and the Elkin boomers," said Mr. Durham. "Neither authority wants Pennypacker nominated. The Democrats realize that with the judge leading the Republican state ticket they would stand no chance whatever; that his candidacy could not be assailed and that the congressional, legislative and county tickets would be so strengthened that Republican victories would result wherever an issue was made.

"The outcome has never been in doubt since Judge Pennypacker's name was presented. He is assured now of enough delegates to nominate him on the first ballot, and but one will be required. Our 86 delegates will be instructed tomorrow for Pennypacker. He will also be supported by 50 per cent of the uninstructed delegates. The fight is over, Senator Quay, as stated by The Gazette this morning, will succeed Gen. Beeder as state chairman and Senator Penrose will be chosen temporary chairman of the convention. Who will be permanent chairman will not be decided until the delegates get to Harrisburg, and the same applies to the third place on the ticket, secretary of internal affairs."

PORCH-CLIMBERS AGAIN.

Last Year's East End Epidemic Threatens Another Outbreak.

Joseph James was arrested by Private Watchman John Friel and locked up in the East End police station last night charged with being a suspicious person. James is a negro and landed in Pittsburgh from Richmond, Va., last night.

According to Watchman Friel's statement, James is a porch-climber, and in company with another colored man, attempted to get into the second story of the residence of J. B. Shea, in Richland avenue, shortly before 9 o'clock last night.

When the watchman accosted the two men they took to their heels and one colored man, whom James said was "Red" Poland of Wylie avenue, escaped. At the police station James said he had come from Virginia to Pittsburgh in search of work and fell in with Poland in Wylie avenue.

A report was made at the police station that burglars were operating in Carver street last night. Early yesterday morning two men were seen to enter the home of F. H. Watson, at No. 160 Carver street, but were chased away before they got any plunder.

HELEN PARK APPEARS.

Mrs. Sadie Katz Says She Saw Her, Dressed as Boy.

The detectives are still searching for Helen Park, 14 years old, of No. 1202 Fifth avenue, who disappeared from her home on May 23. Yesterday afternoon Mrs. Sadie Katz, of No. 303 Ferry street, said that she saw the girl walking in Fourth avenue, between Wood and Market streets, dressed in boy's clothes. Word was sent to the detective bureau and Detectives James W. Eagan and George W. Cole went in search of her. They were unable to apprehend her.

The girl left home in the morning of May 23 with $10 to pay the rent with. She was to return home before going to school, but failed to do so. Helen Park had a fondness for the stage and her mother learned after her disappearance that she had been going to the theaters for two months without her knowledge. The detectives are of the opinion the girl has left the city with some theatrical company. Mrs. Katz is positive she recognized the girl. She said she had her hair cut and hurried away from her.

BOLD THEFT OF JEWELS IN THE LEADING HOTEL

Mrs. George J. Gould's Mother Robbed of Diamonds Worth $10,000.

CASE IS A STRANGE ONE

The Thieves Overlooked a Necklace Worth a Much Larger Sum Which Was in Plain Sight on the Dressing Table—Seemed to Know Way.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, June 4.—Mrs. Kingdon, mother of Mrs. George J. Gould, was robbed of jewelry valued at $10,000 early Tuesday morning by thieves who entered her apartments in the Waldorf-Astoria hotel. The circumstances surrounding the robbery are of so peculiar a nature as to puzzle the police, who are unable to explain to their own satisfaction how it happened that the thieves overlooked a diamond necklace worth many times the value of the articles stolen.

This is considered the more remarkable because of the fact that the necklace was in plain sight on a dressing table, while the jewelry which was taken was locked up and carefully concealed. Capt. Titus has detailed his most expert detectives on the case, and already every pawn shop in New York has been searched. It is the belief of the police and of the management of the Waldorf-Astoria that expert thieves in some manner obtained entrance to the hotel, and that the robbery had been well planned in advance.

Mrs. Kingdon attended a theater Monday night with a party of personal friends and was later than usual in retiring. When she searched her apartments in the Waldorf-Astoria her jewelry was handed to a maid, who was instructed to see that it was properly put away. This maid, who has been in the employ of Mrs. Kingdon for a long time, and in whom full confidence is reposed, was instructed as to certain duties to be performed the next morning. She was told that the door between her room and Mrs. Kingdon's dressing room would be left unlocked, so that she could enter in the morning without arousing Mrs. Kingdon, who wished to sleep late.

At the theater Mrs. Kingdon wore four diamond clasps or brooches, having a total value of $10,000; she also wore a diamond necklace of much greater value. The maid laid the necklace on a dressing table, intending later to put it away, according to her instructions. The other four pieces were locked in one of the drawers of the dressing table.

Mrs. Kingdon did sleep late Tuesday morning, but when she arose she saw the diamond necklace. Calling her maid, she censured her for her carelessness and then instructed her to put it with the other jewelry and see that it was all arranged in a case in which it was to have been taken to Lakewood, where the Goulds have their summer home. In obeying her instructions the maid was surprised to find that the brooches and clasps which she had so carefully put away the night before were missing. The case in which they had been placed had been broken open and the articles in the drawer of the table were in confusion.

DEMOCRATS SEE ONLY THE TRUST

MAIN FEATURE OF PLATFORM OF INDIANA STATE CONVENTION.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

INDIANAPOLIS, June 4.—The Democratic state convention today nominated the following ticket: Secretary of state, Albert Schoonover, Attica; attorney general, W. E. Stillwell, Princeton; state auditor, James R. Riggs, Sullivan; state treasurer, Jerome Herff, Peru; clerk of supreme court, Adam Heimberger, New Albany; superintendent of public instruction, Sampel L. Scott, Clark county; statistician, Myron D. King, Indianapolis; state geologist, Edward Barrett, Hendricks county; judge of supreme court, Fifth district, Timothy E. Howard, South Bend; judge of appellate court, Southern district, John R. East, Bloomington; W. H. Bracken, Franklin; John D. Megee, Rushville; judges of appellate court, Northern district, Richard H. Hartford, Portland; James T. Saunderson, Fowler; Henry G. Zimmerman, Albion.

The platform denounces the Republican party for its surrender to the trusts; denounces the Dingley tariff bill as a breeder of trusts; favors the restoration and expansion of the merchant marine, though denouncing the ship subsidy bill; denounces the Philippine policy of the administration, though holding "in reverence the valor, patriotism and services of the soldiers and sailors of the republic." The silence is deepest on the money question.

EVERY BOROUGH MUST CARE FOR ITS OWN CASES

Pittsburgh Authorities Can Take No Outside Smallpox Patients.

A STATEMENT IS ISSUED

Under the Law Persons Afflicted With Contagious Diseases Must Be Quarantined by the Local Officers and Public Must Be Protected.

City Physician B. A. Booth investigated a suspected case of smallpox near the Soho dump yesterday and found Letty Clark, a 7-months-old babe, suffering with the disease. Her condition is so serious that she was not removed from the house, but instead the place was placed under quarantine. The mother of the child is dead, and it was cared for by its grandfather and grandmother, who are ragpickers. The child has been sick for about three weeks, but as it was supposed to be ill with hives no physician was called. A neighbor who saw her thought it was smallpox and reported the case to the bureau of health.

E. L. Cooper, colored, 32 years old, of No. 25 Shetland avenue, was found sick with the disease and sent to the municipal hospital. His home was quarantined.

In view of the existing conditions in the city with regard to smallpox a meeting was held yesterday at the office of Director Leslie in the Public Safety department building. The meeting was attended by the poor directors of the county, in conjunction with several doctors; the director of public safety, Thomas J. Ford, attorney for the poor directors, and A. C. Robertson, attorney for the department of public safety. It was agreed that the boroughs and townships should take care of all cases of smallpox that may develop within their districts, as it is utterly impossible for Pittsburgh to take charge of them on account of the crowded condition of the pesthouse.

In order to fully comply with these provisions it was deemed necessary that the attorneys representing the department of public safety and the poor board prepare a statement to be given to the proper parties through the press. Therefore the following has been set forth as the law governing all cases of an infectious character existing in the different townships and boroughs of the county:

Under the act of May 11, 1893, it is the duty of the president of town council of each and every borough in the commonwealth to nominate and by and with the consent of the council, to appoint a board of health of such borough, to consist of five members. The duties and responsibilities, powers and prerogatives of such board is identical with those assigned to boards of health of cities of the third class. It is particularly their duty to prevent the introduction and spread of infectious or contagious diseases. They may establish hospitals, and it is incumbent upon them to adopt such measures by quarantine or otherwise as will protect the public from all contagious diseases.

By act of April 11, 1899, the powers so vested in the board of health in boroughs is extended to the school boards of townships.

Under the law it is now the duty of the board of health of each borough and of the school board in each township to take charge of all persons afflicted with smallpox or other contagious diseases, to quarantine them, or to enforce any other measure reasonably necessary for the protection of the public.

It is the purpose of the city officials to prosecute all parties who are instrumental in evading the law as set forth, who by doing so endanger the community by sending adrift such parties afflicted with smallpox.

Montooth Club Raided.

The Montooth club, at No. 431 Third avenue, was raided shortly after midnight by Inspector Frederick Wills, Capt. John E. Cramer and a squad of police. It is alleged that gambling was allowed in the club. Harry Brown, who is charged with being the proprietor, and 13 visitors were arrested and sent to Central police station. Nearly all the men placed forfeits for a hearing this morning.

WILMERDING MAN WHO DOES NOT EXPECT TO BE ELECTED GOVERNOR

WILLIAM ADAMS.

William Adams of Wilmerding, who was nominated for governor by the Socialist-Labor party at the convention in Erie last week, is one of the best known citizens of Wilmerding, where he has resided for many years. He was born in Wilkinsburg 42 years ago, and after leaving the public schools of that place entered a business college, where he completed his education. He engaged in the newspaper business and when the Westinghouse works located at Wilmerding Mr. Adams secured the agency for the Pittsburgh papers. Speaking of his prospects in the coming campaign, he does not expect to be elected governor of Pennsylvania, but he says he will have the largest vote ever given a Socialist-Labor candidate. The vote, he expects, will be close to 15,000. The increase in votes Mr. Adams ascribes to the rapidly increasing membership of the party, and he says it is only a matter of a few years until the laboring classes are all enrolled under the banner of the Socialist-Labor party.

KING EDWARD ASKS $250,000 FOR KITCHENER

IS CREATED A VISCOUNT

New Title Conferred Upon the British High Commissioner in South Africa—Mr. Kruger Is Reported to Be Seriously Ill.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

London, June 4.—In the house of commons today the government leader, A. J. Balfour, presented a message from King Edward, as follows:

"His majesty, taking into consideration the eminent services rendered by Lord Kitchener, and being desirous, in recognition of such services, to confer on him some signal mark of his favor, recommends that he, the king, should be enabled to grant Lord Kitchener £50,000."

John Dillon, William Redmond and Swift MacNeill, Irish Nationalists, announced their intention of opposing the grant at every stage.

It was announced this afternoon that Lord Kitchener had been created a viscount by King Edward. He has also been promoted to be a general.

BRUSSELS, June 4.—A dispatch received here from Utrecht says that Mr. Kruger is seriously indisposed and confined to his bed.

PRETORIA, June 4.—Gen. Botha remarked, relative to the termination of the war:

The Boers do not anticipate the least difficulty in bringing in the various commandos. The work of returning the men to their wives, children and farms will, however, be heavy and difficult. It is impossible to send them straight to the veldt. It is absolutely necessary, at this time of the year, to have warm shelter, and wooden huts have already been ordered from the coast towns, to be delivered in sections to each family. Those who are unable to return to their former avocations will be temporarily supported by the government.

The question of re-stocking the farms is also under consideration. The main difficulty is to find wheat and cattle likely to thrive. No great difficulty is experienced in regard to horses, as the government is able to dispose of great numbers of remounts.

Botha and Delarey and other Boer leaders will start for Europe shortly, for the purpose of raising funds for the distressed burghers.

South Dakota Nominates an Entire State Ticket by Acclamation. Indorsed Kittredge.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Halladay; state superintendent of public instruction, George W. Nash; commissioner of schools and public lands, C. J. Bach; railroad commissioner, D. H. Smith; congressmen, E. W. Martin and Charles H. Burke.

The platform indorses the national administration; favors the settlement of disputes between capital and labor by arbitration; alludes to the good faith of the United States in giving Cuba independence; rejoices over the pacification of the Philippine islands and denounces partisan attacks upon the behavior of the United States soldiers.

BROKER UPHOLDS ENGLAND'S CAUSE AGAINST BOERS

George H. Langdon Says British Fought for Justice and Equal Rights.

RICH RAND GOLD MINES

They Produced $80,000,000 Every Year and Were Owned by English, Who Paid 90 Per Cent of All the Country's Taxes.

George H. Langdon, formerly of New York, now the manager in this city for the brokerage firm of the Haight & Freese Company, No. 333 Fourth avenue, was for nearly three years engaged in business at Johannesburg, South Africa, and is well versed in the Boer question and the causes that brought about the war. In speaking of the settlement of the war, he said yesterday:

"The Boer war is over, and England has agreed to accept peace from the Boers upon the most liberal terms, in fact, granting them concessions much more generous than they could have ever expected were it not for the clemency of Edward VII. in his coronation year. I have no hesitancy in saying, as an absolutely unprejudiced American who lived there for three years, that the position taken by the English was in full accord with the views of those of us who believed in liberty, fairness and justice.

"People in this country seem to be under the impression that the 'poor Boers' are the oppressed ones and they should receive all the sympathy. This is not the case at all. The English, as well as all foreigners, were the oppressed people, and England fought for exactly the same principles as our ancestors in 1776—for liberty and equal rights and against taxation without representation.

English Paid Taxes.

"If you stop to consider that English capital invested in the rich mines was paying fully 90 per cent of the taxes collected in the Transvaal, and not getting any recognition whatsoever from the Transvaal government in return for the millions of pounds sterling they were paying annually into the Transvaal treasury, why should England not object?

"They had no right to vote, no English schools, no sanitation, no protection and virtually no justice in the courts, the English language not being recognized in court at all, although Johannesburg is an English town and the tongue is universally used there, the English population outnumbering the Dutch 50 to 1. There were no Boers living in Johannesburg, as the genuine Boer detests cities and will only live out on the rolling veldt, with his nearest neighbor from three to five miles distant.

"All the Boer wants is to be let alone to drink his coffee, smoke his pipe and live in peace on his enormous farm. He has no education and don't want it. Modern ideas and progress are abominations in his mind.

England Built a City.

"England transformed what was once practically a barren waste, miles of open veldt and land covered with such scanty vegetation that it could scarcely be used for grazing purposes, into the thriving city of Johannesburg, with over 100,000 population. English capital prospected, developed and equipped the greatest chain of mines in the world today at Johannesburg, extending nearly 30 miles each way, east and west, producing $80,000,000 in gold each year and giving employment to thousands of white men and natives. The year previous to the war more gold was produced there than in any other country in the world. The agricultural people about Johannesburg rent or sell the mineral rights to their farms, but do not operate the mines themselves, as a rule.

"I sympathize with the Boers because they were badly advised by the meddling Hollanders, who were the cause of the war. Dr. Leyds, the Hollander, who was President Kruger's secretary of state, practically ran the government. The burghers are good fighters, but too ignorant to understand the conditions which led to the war, and the leaders rolled upon the aid of Germany when they began it.

"I could relate many instances of the peculiarities of the government. For instance, some Americans obtained a concession for the building of an electric railway, but it was vetoed by Kruger, for the reason that the people would not be able to sell forage to so many horses as they were doing if the railway was built."

ELKS HAD PLEASANT DAY.

Sight-Seeing and Entertainment Was Followed by a "Stag" Social Session Last Night.

Yesterday was a day of rest, recreation and sightseeing for the Elks of Pittsburgh and their guests. During the day the diversions consisted of trolley rides and entertainment at the headquarters of Allegheny lodge No. 339. In the afternoon special trolley cars were sent to the new temple and conveyed parties of Elks to Homestead, Braddock, East Pittsburgh and McKeesport, where visits were made to the various manufactories located there.

Allegheny lodge prepared on a lavish scale for visitors to its clubhouse in Cedar avenue. The house was handsomely decorated, and an orchestra played most of the day. Refreshments were served.

Last night the Elks of the two cities, with those from out of town, who were ...le to stay over, had a merry time at the social session given by Pittsburgh ... at the new temple, Fifth avenue ...unionville street. The vaudeville ...ainment was very good. ...room on the basement floor was ... a refreshment room, and every ... regaled with food and drink to ...art's content.

City Ordinance Officer Robert H. Lindsay has notified officials of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad that unless the company observes the terms of its franchise regarding unnecessary whistling inside the city limits he will arrest every engineer guilty of causing the nuisance. Lindsay says so many complaints have been made that he would be compelled to take prompt action.

One resident of the South Side said yesterday he had counted 34 blasts from one whistle on Sunday, while the train was in the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie yards for a few minutes. Complaint has also been made by many residents of the Fourteenth ward to Councilman W. H. Stevenson.

BAPTIST PASTOR RESIGNS CHARGE

THE REV. JOHN J. GORHAM LEAVES WYLIE AVENUE CHURCH.

His Coming Departure Was Announced Yesterday at Meeting of Pittsburgh Baptist Association—Ill-Health Is Reason, Although He Has Other Calls.

Quite a surprise was sprung in the Pittsburgh Baptist association meeting yesterday in the Fourth avenue church by the announcement that the Rev. John Jay Gorham, pastor of the Wylie Avenue Baptist church, has decided to sever his pastoral relations with that body. Mr. Gorham himself confirmed the announcement last night by stating to a Gazette reporter that he has already tendered his resignation and that it has been accepted.

Mr. Gorham will preach his farewell sermon next Sunday, shortly after which he will go to White Plains, N. Y., to recuperate. He has not been well for some months, and has been considering the tendering of his resignation for a long time. It was stated that Mr. Gorham's relations with his flock have been most amicable, and that there is no reason for his resigning other than his own personal desire of recuperating. He has been pastor of the Wylie avenue church for over two years.

Mr. Gorham presented his resignation last week at a congregational meeting and advanced reasons that could not well be rejected. Mr. Gorham's daughter is being educated in the east, and his wife has been there for some months, making a home for her. The absence of the family had much to do with his resigning.

He has also been called by several prominent churches, but will not accept any before next fall. The latest call came from a church in Minneapolis, Minn., the pastor of which expects to be elected mayor of that city. Mr. Gorham stated last night that he favored this call, but would not accept any until he has rested sufficiently.

"I have not had good health for several years," he stated, "and propose now to rest with my family for some months. I shall accept a call, probably, during the summer. The pastoral relations in the Wylie avenue church have been such that I deeply regret leaving, but ill health demands that I do so."

During the afternoon session of the association the Rev. Dr. Edwin M. Poteat, pastor of the Memorial Baptist church of Philadelphia, spoke on "The Church in Its Cosmical Relations."

Mr. H. K. Porter spoke of the recent convention of the missionary union in St. Paul and of the effort made there to bring the various societies engaged in the same work in closer touch with each other.

The reports on home and foreign missions were encouraging, showing great progress during the past year.

Messrs. W. E. Schaffnit, L. W. Brown and E. L. Mattern were elected as members of the society on church aid and extension to serve for the next three years. The sessions closed last evening with special devotional services.

APPEAL TO ROOSEVELT.

New York Business Men Ask President to Use His Influence to Settle Strike.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, June 4.—President Roosevelt will be asked by the manufacturers and business men of this city to use his influence toward settling the anthracite miners' strike. At the meeting of the New York board of trade and transportation today resolutions were adopted to that end and a committee, consisting of Darwin R. James, James Talcott and John D. Kiernan, was appointed to go to Washington to lay the appeal before Mr. Roosevelt.

"Anthracite coal, as a fuel," the resolutions say, "has become a prime necessity of life and industry, and the threatened scarcity, caused by the controversy, has resulted in a large advance in the price and great hardship and injury to all consumers, and a large advance in the price is imminent if the differences between the railroads and their employes in the mines are not speedily adjusted."

As the interests of the public are paramount to those of either the men or their employes, the president is asked to exercise the power conferred upon him by a law passed by congress in 1888, which provides that whenever controversies arise between transportation companies and their employes which may hinder transportation between states the president may select two commissioners, who, together with the commissioner of labor, shall examine the causes of the controversy and report to the president and congress."

TRUST REDUCES PRICES.

Pittsburgh Asphalt Company Will Do Street Repairing at Lower Figures.

The contract for asphalt street repairing for the next nine months was awarded yesterday to the Pittsburgh Asphalt Company at $1 95 a square yard. The Empire Company did not bid this time, but did at the original bidding. The first bids were thrown out, however, to give the city an opportunity to insert in the specifications a clause providing that the contractor shall make repairs within 24 hours after being notified by the director of public works.

This is the first time the asphalt trust ever offered to do city work at a price lower than $2 25 a square yard. The Empire Company bid $1 97 at the first bidding, and the figure must have leaked out. Director McCandless has ordered the contractors to begin repair work at once.

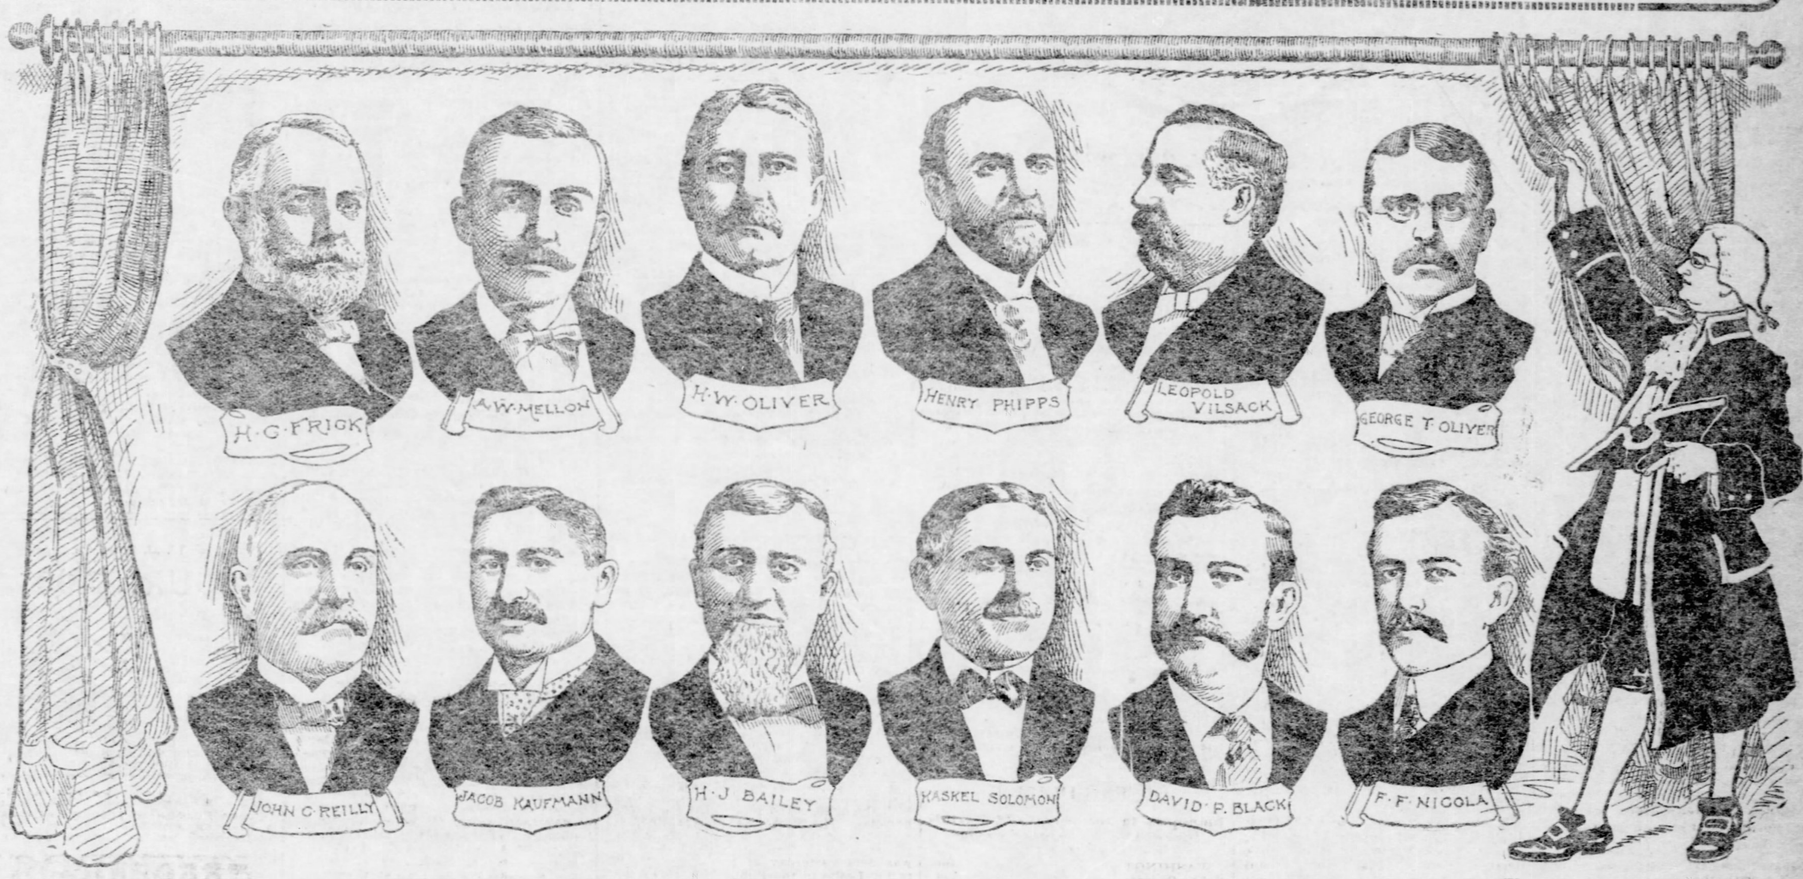
TRAFFORD CITY

ON

GRAND FREE EXCURSION

SATURDAY, JUNE 7th



If the above far-sighted business men see enough in the future of Greater Pittsburgh to warrant the investing of fifty cool millions of dollars during the last few months in down-town business realty, there is no doubt but that the average investor will grasp the opportunity to buy real estate which ranks second, and in many instances ahead of down-town business property, as a wealth-producing factor.

This remarkable OPENING SALE of TRAFFORD CITY LOTS would not be exciting the unbounded interest it is if such opportunities to make money occured even occasionally during a lifetime.

You get at the true inwardness of this enthusiasm when you stop to consider that TRAFFORD CITY is a Westinghouse Town, with the Westinghouse proof of success back of it.

Real estate in other industrial communities has not shown the ratio of increase in value that property in any of the Westinghouse towns show. Yet one will not be wholly dependent upon Westinghouse industrial expansion for the earnings TRAFFORD CITY property will give. The natural growth of Greater Pittsburgh will help marvelously in adding to your income from TRAFFORD CITY realty.

4,000 WORKMEN

WILL ESTABLISH A CITY OF 20,000

These are facts based upon what Westinghouse Industrial Expansion has done before. Other great cities have been built and held fast in prosperity by added links that in no sense reached such a number as are being welded to the Westinghouse trade-binding chain of productive genius.

Look how the Westinghouse Airbrake, Westinghouse Electric Light and Power Systems and Westinghouse Engines and Machinery are being called into greater and greater demand in every center of civilization throughout the world, and you will not stop at this last matchless opportunity to buy a piece of real estate whose future is dependent upon Westinghouse destiny.

Today nearly 69 per cent of the 15,000 workmen employed in the great Westinghouse industries at East Pittsburgh and Wilmerding are worth more money than the average business man, and at least 87 per cent of this 69 per cent will have the value of their real estate holdings increased at least 50 per cent by the monster $1,500,000 extension to be built this summer to the plant of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company.

When you consider that all the castings for all the Westinghouse works will be made at Trafford City you will see that the Trafford City industry will have the largest volume of growth, because not one of the Westinghouse industries can grow without compelling the growth of the industry upon which it is dependent for its castings.

The great Westinghouse Foundry interests at Trafford City, in fact, constitute the only industry in the Westinghouse circuit that shares in the success of each and every one of the other Westinghouse industries. This is a point investors should not overlook. It makes Trafford City property the property with unquestionably the greatest future.

Another point bearing on the wisdom of possessing Trafford City real estate, or real estate adjacent to the Westinghouse industries, is the fact that 8,798 out of a total number of nearly 11,000 renters who got in and took advantage of the first opportunities to buy property opened by Westinghouse industrial expansion are now owners of homes; in many instances are the wealthiest men in the towns or communities in which they live.

The thrilling advance in East Pittsburgh and Wilmerding real estate is the best possible evidence as to the advisability of investors getting in and securing a piece of Trafford City property when it goes on the market.

Do a little arithmetic on this proposition, after you get our price list and terms, and you will realize how a man with $25 to $50 can secure and hold an investment which will eventually earn him $5,000. Let a shrewd investor go in with $100 and he can make $20,000 in a few years. He won't have to wait, (like he invariably would in the average new town), to see where the finest improvements are going to be, because this is a Westinghouse town, founded upon a clear, unmistakable Westinghouse policy.

Remarkably choice lots for residence will go in this first great sale at:

$100, $150, $200, $250, $300, $350, $400 AND UP.

Lots for business houses and public edifices on the most finely graded, sewered and paved streets, having gas, water and every modern convenience, including traction cars in front of the doors, will be offered at $850. In fact, every lot in this plan has city water and new sanitary system of sewerage.

The easiest monthly payment plan ever adopted on good property will govern transactions where purchasers do not wish to pay all cash.

In other words, terms are as follows:

10 per cent. down, balance 3 per cent. monthly, with no taxes nor interest until delivery of deed.

On this proposition an investor can step in with $25 or $50 and snap up opportunities which he can dispose of to later arrivals at twice and three times these amounts. Or he can hold on by paying $7.50, $9, $12 or $15 each month and the lot will pay for itself in a short time by the natural tremendous increase in value bound to result.

15 PER CENT. DISCOUNT WILL BE GIVEN CASH PURCHASERS, provided purchaser pays all cash within thirty days or pays one-third cash within thirty days and gives bond and purchase-money mortgage for balance, payable in two equal annual installments with interest.

All lots on residence streets will be sold with restrictions requiring that houses be built back 20 feet from the sidewalks, the company's aim being to have a community possessing beautiful lawns and such surroundings as enterprise and refinement are sure to give.

A policy guaranteeing title will be given with each lot. Said policy will be issued by the Real Estate Trust Company of Pittsburgh, Capital and Surplus, $3,500,000.

BUTLER COUNTY JUDICIAL FIGHT NOW NEARING CLOSE

Indications Are That Judge John M. Greer Will Be Renominated.

ANSWERS HIS OPPONENT

Makes Reply to a Number of Stories That the Other Side Have Been Using—Lively Tilt on the Street Yesterday.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Butler, Pa., June 1.—The closing hours of the Republican primaries campaign were considerably enlivened this afternoon by a tilt which occurred between Judge John M. Greer, who is a candidate to succeed himself, and W. O. Walker, an attorney of Wilkinsburg. The latter was a former resident of Butler and for some time past has been here working in the interest of his cousin, James M. Galbreath, a candidate opposing Judge Greer.

This afternoon Judge Greer was standing on Main street, in front of the postoffice, when Walker approached. In an instant the men were engaged in a heated discussion. It is said that Walker called Judge Greer a liar, whereupon the latter, with his open hand, struck Walker on the cheek. Walker retaliated and landed a blow under the judge's left eye. Friends interfered and separated the two men. The affair was witnessed by a large number of people and created quite a sensation.

Judge Greer to The Gazette expressed the greatest regret that the affair should have happened. He said that he had been aggravated and nagged by some of his bitter enemies lately until the situation was exasperating beyond endurance and that he was strung to such a high nervous tension that for the moment he lost control of himself. Mr. Walker also expressed regret that the collision should have happened and declared that he had no intention of provoking an attack.

Greer Looks Like a Winner.

Interest in the primaries which are to be held in Butler county Saturday centers in the judicial contest. Judge John M. Greer is seeking a renomination, and James M. Galbreath is his opponent.

There are about 40 other Republicans seeking nomination for everything from congressman to auditor, but the battle for judicial honor is the one attracting the major portion of attention. Both sides claim victory, with majorities of at least 1,000. To an outsider the chances of success appear to be on the side of Judge Greer. One reason for reaching this conclusion is the fact that the men who have won the majority of the victories in Butler county in the past are all rallying around Judge Greer. Added to this is the strength of the larger portion of the Republican members of the bar. The interest shown by the lawyers in the candidacy of the judge is an indication that they have no fault to find with his career on the bench. In Butler county, as elsewhere, there are many people who believe in continuing in office a judge who has shown that he merits such confidence.

A Long Campaign.

This campaign has been of long duration, especially so far as Mr. Galbreath is concerned. He has been more or less active for several years. It was understood between the two candidates that political mud was to be kept out of the fight. The reverse has been the result. Great wagonloads of clay have been thrown at Judge Greer by friends of his opponent. While stories have been flying thicker than flies, the judge has refrained from making any public reply to them. He did not desire to get into the newspapers and reluctantly consented to an interview. After the campaign is ended he will probably devote some time to men who have worked overtime at character assassination. It is not particularly with this class that his interview has to do. He was asked about a number of things which his opponents are using as their main issues. They are stories that are put in circulation in the back townships and worked for all they are worth. To some Judge Greer has made reply by means of private letter, but has not gone into print with denials. To correct some false impressions the following statement was made by him:

Denies There Was a Bargain.

The Galbreath workers have been endeavoring to show that 10 years ago Judge Greer, who was then a candidate for judge, promised that if Mr. Galbreath would get out of the way he could have a clean field this time. In answer to this charge that a bargain had been made, Judge Greer said:

"About two months ago an article appeared in the Butler Citizen which alleged that I had made an agreement with Mr. Galbreath 10 years ago in which I had promised him that if he would not be a candidate at that time I would not be a candidate at the end of my term. I never made any arrangement of the kind or authorized anyone else to do so or heard of the alleged agreement until last year. I wrote private letters to some of my friends in the county denying the allegation. One of those letters was published in the Citizen and afterward substantiated by a letter from Mr. Galbreath.

"Some time afterward an affidavit of H. Q. Walker of Wilkinsburg, a cousin of Mr. Galbreath, was published in the Citizen, in which he undertook to say that there was a conference between himself and a representative of Mr. Galbreath and another person as my representative.

Affidavit Defective.

"The affidavit fails to name the man who is alleged to have represented me. Mr. Walker's statement as to such a conference or agreement is absolutely false.

"We never had an agreement. In the first place, at that time we had two counties in our judicial district, Butler and Lawrence. The law then provided that the president judge should live in Butler and that the additional law judge should reside in Lawrence county. Judge McMichael was the additional law judge and had been living in New Castle. At his death, in 1892, I was elected to take his place, and under the law would have been compelled to take up my residence in New Castle as long as Judge Hazen was president judge of the district.

"The legislature of 1895 made Lawrence and Butler separate judicial districts. Judge Hazen was designated as president judge of Lawrence and I was assigned to this county in a similar capacity. As this act of the legislature was not passed until 1895 it would not seem reasonable that I would be making a contract as to my successor, when at the time my residence was in Lawrence and that of Mr. Galbreath in Butler.

"At this alleged contract making period Mr. Bowser was thinking of being a candidate. I was under political obligations to him. He had always supported me when a candidate with all his power and energy; whereas Mr. Galbreath had twice turned his back upon me.

"In 1882 I had the nomination for secretary of internal affairs on the state ticket. It was unanimous and I was the only man in Butler who had ever received a state nomination by the republican party.

"Mr. Galbreath took the stump against me and made speeches over the county against the Republican ticket. That year there were four old soldiers on the state ticket.

"Two years afterward I was a candidate for president judge and received about 65 per cent of the Republican vote. Mr. Galbreath again deserted the Republican party and made another fight against me. Therefore I was under no obligations to prefer him to Mr. Bowser, my true friend. Mr. Bowser tells me that after Mr. Galbreath had agreed to get off the track he was approached and asked to run against me notwithstanding the alleged contract."

The judge was asked about the attitude of the Republican members of the Butler bar toward his candidacy, and whether any of the leading lawyers were fighting him. He said:

"I have at least 25 or 30 in my favor. I think, perhaps, two to one. No one with an active practice is fighting me. There are two or three of our best lawyers that will vote for Mr. Galbreath, but they are personally friendly to me and will cheerfully vote for me in the fall if nominated. When I was spoken of for places on the supreme and superior benches I had the indorsement of almost the entire bar."

In discussing the number of cases that have been disposed of in Butler county since Judge Greer has been on the bench this information was secured: "I have disposed of about 2,200 cases in all of the courts of the county in the last nine years. Of the number 102 were appealed to higher courts. I was affirmed in 68 cases and reversed in 34. It will be seen that the percentage of reversals is less than one-half for the entire term."

Why Robinson Fights.

Thomas Robinson is probably the most bitter in his antagonism to Judge Greer. When asked to explain why Robinson was opposing him the judge replied:

"I do not know. He never told me, but I understand that he is displeased because I did not give him a new trial in a case he had against the Pennsylvania Railroad Company. Mr. Robinson attempted to cross a railroad track in Harrisburg in front of an approaching train and was seriously injured. His own statement and the statement of 12 or 13 other witnesses left him without a shadow of a case. The jury decided against him and I could not under my oath grant him a new trial.

"Mr. Robinson is pretty well up toward four score years of age and has received a very severe injury from the railroad accident. I have nothing bad to say about him. If I had I would refer to the columns of the Citizen, for the past 25 years, for which paper he is now writing editorials and articles. Providence has placed him beyond the pale of human censure, and I let the veil fall."

The old soldier cry is also being raised on the judge. The opposition has taken offense at the retention of Mr. Hockenberry as court crier in preference to an old soldier. Hockenberry has held the position for years, and there has never been a word of complaint until this campaign started and alleged issues were needed. On the soldier question Judge Greer said:

"Mr. Hockenberry was appointed by Judge Hazen. He is one of the best court criers in the state. I have been very liberal with the soldiers in my appointments, and appointed Robert McElhaney, Elias Berger, Hugh Morgan, Oliver Lewis, John Schaffner, James Welsh, William Maxwell, Christ Hinchburger, O. P. Campbell and Robert Harbison.

One on Galbreath.

"In fact, all my appointments have been old soldiers except John Mitchell, who was Mr. Galbreath's father-in-law, and who was appointed at the earnest solicitation of Mr. Galbreath. The truth is I never miss a soldier when it is possible to help him."

The abolishing of the office of county detective is another alleged serious offense being urged as a reason for defeating Judge Greer. His opponents are demanding to know why Detective McMarlin was not reappointed. This explanation is given by the judge:

"The criminal business was very much reduced; several courts we had, but one or two convictions. The detective was paid $720 a year. When the petition was presented by the district attorney I thought it well enough to try and get along without a detective for a few courts. Of course, if the office becomes necessary we will have no trouble in getting a county detective."

As to his personal relations with Mr. Galbreath, Judge Greer had this to say:

"We were born in Buffalo township; he reared in Winfield and I in Jefferson, and our relations have always been very pleasant. During all the time that I have been on the bench Mr. Galbreath treated me with very great kindness, and I am informed speaks very highly of me as a man and a judge in his canvass through the county. Personally I can find no fault with Mr. Galbreath. Politically, he is backed by some men who are not good Republicans and some of them not very good citizens. A list of them as Republicans would surprise the old veteran in the Republican party."

During the entire campaign the Butler Citizen has contained many articles attacking Judge Greer. This is the reason he gives for never having replied to them:

"Because for 20 years Robinson and Negley have been keeping up almost a constant warfare in the newspapers and have tired out their readers, and I know they are not anxious for a renewal of the unpleasantness. When the Citizen two years ago or more published an article written by Mr. Robinson, Mr. Galbreath came to me and expressed his hearty disapproval, saying that he would not permit it and that I need have no fears of a continuance. Mr. Galbreath has several times most positively expressed his disapproval of a newspaper contest. I am sure such contests are injurious to the party, weakening to the ticket and humiliating to the candidates."

of Butler, Candidate for Renomination.

A BUTLER MAN IS COMMANDER

Robert P. Scott Is Elected at State Encampment of the G. A. R.

OFFICERS OF RELIEF CORPS

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

GETTYSBURG, PA., June 4.—The first business session of the 36th annual encampment of the Pennsylvania state department of the G. A. R. was held this morning. Robert P. Scott, a member of Post No. 105 of Butler, was elected department commander by 105 majority. Mr. Scott was a private in the Seventy-eighth Pennsylvania volunteers. E. L. Schroeder of York was elected senior vice commander and Ignatius Gresser of Allentown, junior vice commander. Dr. M. B. Hughes was re-elected medical director and the Rev. John W. Sayers of Philadelphia, who has been chaplain of the department since its organization, was re-elected. The council of administration consists of John L. Grim, Charles Rodebaugh, R. H. Fratz, H. H. Bengough and H. Y. Stanwood.

The rest of the day was spent in receiving reports from the retiring officers. Nine hundred and ninety-six veterans died during the year. The membership of the department is now 27,376, scattered throughout the state in 552 posts. The treasurer's report shows a balance of $10,478 44, an increase during the year of over $1,000.

Allentown was chosen as the place for holding the encampment next year. The following resolution was adopted by the encampment. That a bill should be presented to the state legislature in 1903 to the effect that "the veterans of the war of the rebellion be each presented with a badge suitably inscribed with name and service designated, and such other inscription as your honorable bodies may deem proper."

For the second time in the history of the encampment the annual parade was dispensed with on account of the age of the soldiers. John W. Sayers held a well-attended song service on the rostrum of the National cemetery this afternoon.

The Women's Relief Corps held their opening business session this morning at which Mrs. Stewart made an address of welcome, which Dr. Millie J. Chapman of Pittsburgh responded to. They then elected the following officers: President, Dr. Millie J. Chapman; senior vice, Mrs. Boyd, Wilkesbarre; junior vice, Mrs. Rishel, Homestead.

The following were elected officers of the Orphans' home at Brookville: President, Mrs. Maria L. Mumford, Mauch Chunk; senior vice, Mrs. Charles Gray, Brookville; treasurer, Judge Charles A. Morris, Smethport. Tonight the society tendered a reception to the veterans. This afternoon memorial services were held.

Humane Society Caused the Release of Men from Jail.

CORRY, PA., June 4.—(Special.)—For 21 hours three prisoners were lodged in the city jail without food or drink, and at last their pitable cries were heard by several persons who notified the humane society which acted promptly. A Pennsylvania detective arrested the men yesterday for trespassing, and they were awaiting removal to Erie.

It was learned that Mayor Dawson permits railroad detectives to carry keys to the jail and lodge any number of prisoners there, providing the company cares for them. The detective released the men when he saw the excitement the affair had caused.

GUARDS ASSAULTED BY TWO PRISONERS

Huntingdon Reformatory Inmates Attempt to Escape.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

HUNTINGDON, PA., June 4.—The Huntingdon reformatory was the scene last night of another desperate attempt among the inmates to regain their liberty.

Shortly after midnight Robert Black of Fayette county and Clyde Walker of Westmoreland county attacked Electrician A. H. Isenberg in the dynamo house, and, after binding him hand and foot, carried him into a sub-cell. They secured his keys and made a dash for the main entrance.

Here they met Henry Stevens, a guard, whom they assailed with a lead pipe severely injuring him. The wild running of the unattended engine and dynamos spurred Isenberg to make a desperate attempt to free himself from his bonds, which he finally succeeded in doing.

A general alarm was sounded and the two desperate revolters were overpowered before gaining their liberty. They are now in the dungeon.

The train was in charge of Conductor Daniel Maloney of this city, who was in the caboose when the explosion occurred. He was badly shocked, but not seriously injured. The others were all on the engine, except Powell, who was on top of the front car.

The dead were found under the debris. They were so badly scalded as to be unrecognizable. The fatal engine was of the turtle-back series. Linn has a wife and eight children. The others were comparatively young men.

Mellor's Sacrifice Piano Sale And Its Unheard-Of Bargains

This is the greatest sale of pianos that ever took place, and it is going into history as the big bargain event of 1902. But don't think that such prices as are now prevailing will always prevail—for these bargains can never be duplicated. This is explained by the fact that the sale is caused by the work on the foundations for the Farmers Deposit National Bank, next door to the Mellor property. The work encroached on the Mellor premises and simply compelled the immediate sale of all goods in the Mellor basement. If you want an unheard-of bargain, now's the time to come for it.

MEDICAL EXAMINER

Of the United States Treasury Recommends Pe-ru-na.

The Women Also Recommend Pe-ru-na.

Miss Blanch Grey, 174 Alabama street, Memphis, Tenn., a society woman of Memphis, writes:

"To a society woman whose nervous force is often taxed to the utmost from lack of rest and irregular meals I know of nothing which is of so much benefit as Peruna. I took it a few months ago when I felt my strength giving away, and it soon made itself manifest in giving me new strength and health."—Miss Blanch Grey.

Mrs. N. Schneider, 2409 Thirty-seventh Place, Chicago, Ill., writes:

"After taking several remedies without result, I began last year to take your valuable remedy, Peruna. I was a complete wreck. Had palpitation of the heart, cold hands and feet, female weakness, no appetite, trembling, sinking feeling nearly all the time. You said I was suffering with systemic catarrh, and I believe that I received your help in the nick of time. I followed your directions carefully and can say today that I am well again. I cannot thank you enough for my cure."

Peruna cures catarrh wherever located. Peruna is not a guess nor an experiment—it is an absolute scientific certainty. Peruna has no substitutes—no rivals. Insist upon having Peruna.

A free book written by Dr. Hartman on the subject of catarrh in its different phases and stages will be sent free to any address by The Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, Ohio.

Catarrh is a systemic disease, curable only by systemic treatment. A remedy that cures catarrh must aim directly at the depressed nerve centers. This is what Peruna does.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, O.

Dr. Llewellyn Jordan.

DR. LLEWELLYN JORDAN, Medical Examiner of the U. S. Treasury Department, graduate of Columbia College, and who served three years at West Point, has the following to say of Peruna:

"Allow me to express my gratitude to you for the benefit derived from your wonderful remedy. One short month has brought forth a vast change and I now consider myself a well man after months of suffering. Fellow sufferers, Peruna will cure you."

Peruna immediately invigorates the nerve centers, which give vitality to the mucous membranes. Then catarrh disappears. Then catarrh is permanently cured.

CORONER WILL INVESTIGATE THE CASE OF HIGGINS

Publication in The Gazette Starts Investigation of a Mystery.

MRS. MARY BROWN'S STORY

She Heard an Awful Crash and Found Peter Higgins Unconscious at the Foot of a Flight of Stairs a Few Hours Before He Died.

Coroner McGeary will investigate the death of Peter Higgins. His body will be exhumed and an examination made to ascertain the cause of death. The exclusive publication of the mystery surrounding Higgins' death in The Gazette yesterday caused the coroner to take action.

The coroner has a full list of Higgins' relatives and friends, and The Gazette has furnished him with the facts in the case as far as they are known. His investigation started yesterday afternoon.

If the coroner investigates the case thoroughly, which he has said he will do, Mrs. Mary Brown, a neighbor living at No. 2934 Mulberry alley, will be one of his most important witnesses. Mrs. Brown was well acquainted with the Higgins family, and especially with Peter Higgins. She was in the Higgins house before and after the death of Peter, and in discussing the case yesterday, said:

Story of the Widow Brown.

"Peter Higgins and his brother, Patrick, appeared to be on the best of terms. When Mrs. Patrick Higgins returned from Philadelphia, several months ago, Peter was asked to go to the East End and live with Patrick and his wife. He asked my advice, and I told him not to go, as his sister needed him with her. Peter had a mind of his own, however, and about seven weeks ago he informed me he was going out to live with Patrick.

"He was absent from his Mulberry alley home about four weeks, when he returned one day and told me that his sister treated him better than his brother and sister-in-law, and that he had decided to come back and would not go away again.

"Patrick came to see Peter the next day, and his visits to him after that were very frequent. The two brothers did not seem to get along well after that, and one day I asked Peter what the trouble was. He told me that Patrick insisted on his coming back to live with him and he refused to do so.

"On the day preceding Peter's death Patrick came to see him. He insisted that Peter go away with him, and the two brothers left the house early in the morning. They did not return until in the afternoon, shortly before 4 o'clock. Both appeared to me to be very much intoxicated, and Patrick called me to help Peter from the carriage.

Fell Down Stairs With a Crash.

"I assisted him to a bench in our inside yard, and, spreading a new piece of carpet on it, laid him down. Patrick remained with him, and I went into my own home to do work. I was called in a few minutes to help Peter upstairs to his room.

"Patrick and I carried Peter to the top of the stairs, and Patrick said he was all right now, and that he would take care of him. I again went home, and was getting supper when I heard an awful crash and ran out to the front. The door of the Higgins home was open and Peter was lying in the hall at the foot of the stairs, apparently dead.

"I was taking hold of Peter to assist him to his feet when Patrick came running down stairs. 'My God! Patrick, he is dead!' I said, but Patrick said he was not, and called other assistance and had Peter taken upstairs and put to bed. No physician was called, and Peter died shortly before 4 o'clock the next day.

"After Peter died I went and notified the undertaker and also the police at No. 3 police station. I told the sergeant the matter should be investigated, but apparently he paid no attention to me, as no policeman came near the house. I then notified the anti-cruelty society, but no one came near the house.

"Since Peter Higgins' death his sister, Annie, has told me she has had no peace either day or night. She tells me she cannot sleep or bear to stay in the house."

Patrick Higgins' Statement.

Patrick Higgins, a brother of Peter Higgins, called at The Gazette office last night and made the following statement: "The body of my brother will not be lifted or examined right away. I do not propose to allow an examination of the body unless the coroner orders it. Then his information will have to come from outside sources.

"No friends or relatives of my brother will be allowed by me to have the body exhumed. I am his nearest relative, and unless I want an investigation none will be held."

Higgins was asked concerning the statement made by Mrs. Brown, as given above, and said it was correct. The only addition he made was that he understood his brother had fallen down stairs twice that Wednesday evening, instead of once. He said he was not at the house at the time of the alleged falls.

He also stated that his object in taking his brother away from the Mulberry alley home on that Wednesday morning was to have him placed in a hospital. He said he had a note from Dr. R. M. Russell to the Homeopathic hospital, and that his brother was refused admission at that institution as well as at the West Penn and St. Francis hospitals.

When she asked for their return, he said he loved her so well, that he "could not think of such a thing." His devotion to the girl and rings has landed him in jail. NEW CHARLEROI LINE NEARING COMPLETION

It Will Be in Operation by January 1 Next—Big Consignment of New Cars Coming.

The formal completion of legal details for the leasing of all the property and franchises of the Pittsburgh & Charleroi Railway Company by the United Traction Company took place yesterday at a special meeting of the stockholders.

It was decided to approve of the plan arranged some months ago under the general consolidation whereby the Pittsburgh Railways Company assumed control of the traction interests of the two cities and most of Allegheny county. The United Traction Company operates the Birmingham lines on the South Side and the lease approved yesterday gives the Charleroi line admission to the city over the lines of the lessees.

The line will pass through Finleyville and Castle Shannon and come into Pittsburgh over the Mount Lebanon branch of the Birmingham division. It will be 22 miles long and will cost $2,500,000. Between Pittsburgh and Charleroi there are 42 stone and iron bridges. Work is now being rushed and the road will be put into operation before January 1 next. When completed the road will be turned over to the Pittsburgh Railways Company, which will operate it under lease to the United Traction Company. The Pittsburgh company will pay $35,000 per year rental.

The board of directors of the Pittsburgh Railways Company also met yesterday and formally adopted a resolution stating that in recognition of services, S. L. Tone, assistant to President James D. Callery, was elected to be second vice president, a newly created office. Mr. Tone, prior to the organization of the company, was the chief engineer of the United Traction and Southern Traction companies. He assisted in the construction of the old Fifth avenue cable lines and the Duquesne Traction company's system. He is a young man of marked engineering ability and was the recipient yesterday of congratulations from his fellow officials and employes. The office of assistant to the president will be abolished.

The first of the new summer cars recently ordered by the Pittsburgh Railways Company made its appearance yesterday. It was run over the different divisions and tested on curves and grades. It is numbered "3012" and lettered "Pittsburgh Railways Company." It is the standard color, maroon, and, being longer than the present open cars on the Consolidated and United systems, attracted much attention. It has 11 seats, which will accommodate 55 people, instead of nine seats for 45 people, as is the case with the old equipment.

Over 30 of the new cars are either in the Homewood shops now or are on their way to Pittsburgh from St. Louis. As soon as motors can be put under them they will be put into service. They will be distributed over the various divisions and all will be in use before July 4, when the traction resources will be taxed to their utmost.

With one or two exceptions all the big double-truck cars on the Birmingham division have been taken off. They will be sold to nearby town companies, a number of offers for them having been received.

WOULD HAVE BEEN GOOD THING

James Reese Thought He Had Exclusive Agency Here.

Fred F. Wakefield of Alliance, O., was arrested last night by Detectives Regan and Cole on a charge of false pretense on the information of James I. Reese before Police Magistrate McKenna.

It is alleged that over a year ago Wakefield sold Reese the exclusive right to sell Stafford's ink in this city. Reese gave him three checks of $100 each in payment. When he came to this city he learned that the ink was being sold by all stationery merchants. The checks were given on the Merchants and Manufacturers' bank. Reese immediately stopped the payment of the checks. He succeeded in having two of the checks taken in at the bank after payment was refused. Wakefield waited until a year had expired before he attempted to collect the third check. On Monday he went to the bank and collected the money on it and was arrested. He will be arraigned for a hearing this morning before Magistrate McKenna.

EITHER WAY HURTS.

A Cross Fire on Coffee Users.

The breaking away from coffee is an exceedingly serious problem to many people, especially when headaches follow leaving off the drug, and dyspepsia and bowel trouble grows more and more serious if the coffee is continued. So there you are between two fires.

A comparatively easy way out was taken by a lady from Franklin, Pa., who says: "We had a curious experience with coffee. Husband has been, for many years, a sufferer from dyspepsia, with heart-burn, headaches and general nervous trouble. We tried a great many physicians and a great many remedies, but none of them did him any lasting good.

"We concluded there must be something about his employment that thus affected him. One day a man told him that probably coffee was the cause of his trouble and advised him to use Postum. The first time I made it I studied directions and made it good. Well, that day was a day long to be remembered.

"We liked the Postum, but we had a hundred headaches compressed into one. You see, the trouble was we had both used coffee so long that our nerves were in a state of collapse without the usual stimulant. Until then I did not dream I was such a slave to coffee, but we had to do something to quit, so the next morning I used Postum with part coffee, and we missed the headaches; then I used less coffee every morning for about two weeks, and then Postum alone for nearly a year now, and I just wish you could see the change in my husband. He has better health than he ever had before, never has the headache, can eat anything he wants, does not have heartburn or any stomach trouble, and we cannot be induced to drink coffee under any circumstances.

"When anybody mentions dyspepsia in his presence, he tells them what cured him.

"I was almost as bad as he, but am now entirely well, and have gone up from 98 pounds to 108 pounds, and am so thankful for the blessing of good health.

"If my name will do any good, use it, for we stand by Postum always." Mrs. W. A. Bowers, 29 Ninth street, Franklin, Pa.

JACK THE SLASHER MISSED THE DIAMONDS
It is said that Jack the Slasher visited a home in the East End and destroyed much valuable property, but that he failed to discover an elegant collection of Voltaic diamonds secreted in a bureau drawer. No doubt the vengeful Jack will be grieved to learn of this oversight, for it is generally admitted that Voltaic diamonds are the nearest approach to genuine diamonds ever placed on the market. In fact, they cannot be distinguished from the genuine. They withstand all tests and deceive even the best of the experts. Voltaic diamonds can be cleaned and scrubbed without injury. They have a constant brilliancy. Mounted only in solid gold. Rings $4.50 up; eardrops $4.75 up; studs $2.75 up; pins $2.50 up. But take warning—E. E. Arons is the only person in the world that sells Voltaic diamonds, and he does not sell to other jewelers. He sells only to those who are customers at his store. Send for illustrated catalogue.

Stone Loses Ground.

Advices from Washington and Greensburg published this morning show how rapidly the Stone-Elkin combination is going to pieces. Yesterday Senator Quay received assurances from seven delegates who have been counted for Elkin that they are for the candidate he favors and would never have been credited to Elkin had not they believed that the senator favored him. The blow dealt to the Stone-Elkin hopes at Greensburg was from County Controller Brown, who made an unequivocal declaration for Pennypacker. Mr. Brown is one of the most influential politicians of Westmoreland county and may be considered to faithfully reflect public sentiment in the stand he has taken. He believes in consulting the people and acting in accordance with their will. His declaration may be taken as conclusive evidence that the people of Westmoreland resent the attempt to vote their delegates for the Stone candidate. It becomes more apparent every day that the Republican state convention will be responsive to the public sentiment that demands the elimination of Stone and Stoneism from Pennsylvania politics.

Forwarding the Good Work.

Appointment of the special committee to investigate relations between the city and the corporations and the recommendation of ordinances to secure revenues indicated by Controller Larkin call attention again to the progress of reform. Common council has given evidence of good faith that is gratifying to the people who voted for a new order of things, but the fact must not be overlooked that what has been done is merely preliminary to the real work. It is an easy matter to prepare ordinances and investigate relations. It is sometimes more difficult to carry them through. In this connection it is worth while to remember the task of the committee on taxing corporations will be simplified by refusal to admit any new corporations except those that agree to pay specific sums or percentages of their gross receipts into the public treasury.

The New British Ambassador.

The London correspondents who picked the Hon. Michael Henry Herbert as the winner of the British ambassadorial prize at Washington were good guessers. Ambassador Herbert's appointment was announced yesterday afternoon. It was pointed out at the time his name was mentioned that Mr. Herbert was the husband of an American woman, but the opinion was expressed that King Edward would not object to his selection for that reason, especially as it appeared that every man of the half dozen or so who were deemed eligible to succeed Lord Pauncefote was an American woman's husband.

The fact that Ambassador Herbert is married to Miss Wilson of New York city will not interfere with his usefulness to his Britannic majesty nor render him less faithful to his country. This Briton's choice of an American wife is an indication of excellent judgment. His service as British charge d'affaires in Washington in 1888-89, and as secretary of legation in 1892-'93 familiarized him with America and with the requirements of his new post. Mr. Herbert leaves the secretaryship of the British embassy in Paris to accept his promotion.

The Deadly Toy Pistol.

The season is near at hand when juvenile patriotism expresses itself in noise, and when, as a means to that end, the toy pistol enjoys widespread popularity. The dangerous nature of this so-called toy was manifested several years ago when many cases of lockjaw followed a Fourth of July celebration, death ensuing in a majority of the instances. Bad as was the original toy pistol, it is now much more dangerous, a weapon that is being sold to boys being capable of discharging loaded cartridges of a certain caliber, and already several accidents have been reported. The spring on the hammer is said to be so weak that the force of the explosion throws the hammer back and the metallic shell flies out and wounds the shooter.

This appears to be a matter that comes under the jurisdiction of the police authorities, and prompt action would do much to minimize suffering incident to the celebration of the great national holiday. As a result of accidents resulting from the use of toy pistols the police of Oil City have confiscated the weapons and notified the dealers to cease selling them to boys, and this measure of prevention is well worthy of adoption in other cities. Parents who are alive to their duty can assist very materially in the suppression of the dangerous toy pistol by seeing that it does not come into the hands of their children.

A Plan of Action.

It is to be hoped that President Roosevelt will be able to do something in the way of waking up the senate of the United States and getting some action on the important legislation pending in that body. At his invitation several senators have called at the White House and consulted with him regarding the ways and means of getting the members of the upper chamber together, putting through the Cuban reciprocity bill and doing something with the isthmian canal, which everybody wants, but which it is difficult to secure action upon.

The way to do things is to do them. Objectors to the plan of assisting Cuba might reflect that the three Republican state conventions which have already been held—those of Indiana, Ohio and Kansas—have expressed themselves in favor of the administration's policy. They might take this unanimity of opinion as an indication that the party is supporting President Roosevelt and as an intimation that they are not justified in opposing the measure any longer. On the canal question, it would be wise to leave the choice of a route to the president himself. Naturally, Mr. Roosevelt prefers that congress shall choose the route, but as that body is apparently unable to do this, it should enact the necessary legislation and turn the matter over to the president, who will discharge the duty with fidelity.

The President and the South.

Down in Virginia the other day a number of resentful citizens got together and burned in effigy the president of the United States because of certain things in his vigorous address at the Memorial Day exercises in the National cemetery at Arlington. This outbreak may be taken as the climax of the resentment that has been simmering in the minds of a number of people in the south against the president ever since the Booker Washington incident. It may also be accepted as representative of the opposition to the president in that region, and gauges pretty accurately the standard of citizenship that gives that opposition form and expression. It would be as foolish and unfair to hold the great body of Virginia people responsible for this petty and insulting piece of Bourbonism as it would be to put upon the whole people of Indiana responsibility for a lynching in that state.

The Atlanta Constitution, a partisan Democratic newspaper and the foremost organ of southern sentiment in a tier of states south of Virginia, says, in speaking of President Roosevelt:

> President Roosevelt has shown a personal respect for the chief magistracy which has added to the respect of the nation for its incumbent. He has been a decided partisan, but that was to be expected. He has had the courage to do what seemed to him right in crucial instances, and when the larger opinion of the public was otherwise.
> Between him and any of those who have been tentatively considered in opposition to him as candidates for the Republican nomination, we think the rank and file of his party would decide quickly in his favor. If his party really wants a president in the fullest sense and not a political figurehead or patronage monger it should nominate him by acclamation.

This may be considered extreme praise, but it more nearly represents the solid, sensible reflective spirit of the south than anything that has yet appeared in the arguments created by the policies of the present administration. The Virginia effigists represent a small and hopelessly irreconcilable remnant of the old south. The Constitution, not so much in the matter of its editorial as in the spirit, represents the broader and more progressive south to which the country looks with hopefulness to see the final putting down of the spirit of lawlessness which finds its readiest means of reprisal either in a lynching or in the burning in effigy of a supposed opponent.

Trees for Ornament.

An example of better building for the future is being given in Bellevue, where a change of street grade has rendered necessary the removal of some fine old trees. The trees are not being destroyed, but are lowered to the new level and carefully preserved. This is as it should be. Trees are the creations of years. They give to a street or private grounds an appearance of finish not to be secured from anything else—an air of comfort that is appreciable. It is a pity more thought was not given to them years ago, when a little thought would have prevented much of the garishness that offends the fastidious eye in many American towns.

Better late than never. Our cities, towns and villages are yet in the formative stage. New plans of lots are continually being put upon the market, streets altered, widened, sewered and paved. The addition of a few trees or shrubs to the plans, or the devotion of a little space to planting will make the suburbs more attractive. Authority is not wanting, either, for the opinion is that trees are promotive of human health as well as of the beauty of towns. Old populated districts may be prohibited from giving room for trees by the high cash value of ground, but not so the plans for new towns or additions. The time is opportune and the conditions right for giving some attention to the esthetic side of things.

There will be a decided feeling of relief if the man taken into custody proves to be the mysterious vandal who has been dubbed "Jack the Slasher." Although it was certain that this vandal would evidently be captured if he continued at his work of destruction, it was feared that a long time might elapse before he could be apprehended, for as a rule freak criminals are the hardest to catch. In the event of the prisoner being found to be "Jack the Slasher," no time should be lost in consigning him to an institution where there are no cushions, pillows, clothing or curtains to destroy.

That Democratic mixup in New York, at which Cleveland, Bryan and Hill will appear together in the same ring, should employ the services of a good healthy referee and lay in a supply of lint and liniment.

Chicago leads in its suicide record for the month of May. Some people are very rash in their efforts to get away from a place.

England has at least learned that the man behind the gun has much to do with the fortunes of war, especially if the gun be a rifle with a Boer behind it.

Congress has been long on elocution and short on execution, hence its hot weather seances.

The Boers have surrendered, but it is a clear case of "you ought to see the other fellow."

Don't let the Fourth of July fund lag. Patriotism of the right kind is always worth the price.

Senator Mason of Chicago continues to talk like a man who refuses to let the embalming fluid take.

Every Elkin keeps has a Stone hired man behind it.

Hard Luck in the Bathtub.

From the New York Tribune.

Judge E. W. Waybright of Denver has resolved hereafter to achieve godliness by a short cut, at least while traveling. His is a sad tale of the vexations of cleanliness. "When I was coming east this trip from Mexico by way of Chicago," he said at the Waldorf, "I accumulated an uncomfortable amount of cinders and the like upon my person. As the train made a stop of some length at Chicago, I decided to go into a hotel and take a bath. I did so. The experience was so enjoyable that you can guess what happened—I lost my train. After waiting some hours for the next one I boarded it, only to find that the only sleepers were for Boston.

"By the time we reached Buffalo I felt rather soiled again, so I decided to get off for another bath and catch the train with a New York sleeper. I went up to the Iroquois hotel, where I found all the rooms with baths taken, and had to go into a general bathroom. While I was in there a chambermaid, or somebody of the sort, came along and locked the door on the outside. I kicked and cried, but could rouse nobody. Train time drew perilously near, still no answer. Then I seized the rod that works the transom, and pumped it up and down. That brought them. But still it was some time before I could persuade anybody that I was a sane being locked in, not a lunatic. At last a bellboy was sent for, and I was released. But I lost my train again. The next time I come east I am sure I can come the entire way without a bath."

Mr. Winkler's Undeserved Sorrow.

From the Chicago Record-Herald.

Mr. John Winkler of Findlay, O., wants a divorce and has favored the court with the following complaint against the lady in the case:

> She went out one night
> And got rather tight,
> Then came home with one Willie Miller;
> Bill was a gay spark
> And enjoyed a good lark,
> Being known as a cooer and a biller.
>
> Now, John was rather meek,
> And they made him take a sneak,
> For they told him they had come to stay a spell;
> He complied with their desire,
> But such conduct roused his ire,
> And now he says his bride can go to—the dogs.

This is wrong. If she is to go anywhere she should go to Willie Miller, and we hope that gentleman will have the gallantry to provide such terminal facilities as she may require when the case is finally with the court. John Winkler's course in getting out of the way of his wife's return was sensible. It would have been foolish for him to have done any shooting or cutting or clubbing. Still, it is too bad that he finds himself in his present trouble. One who could exhibit such self-restraint as he did and who can write poetry of the high grade shown in his petition surely deserves a better fate than has come to Jean Winkler of Findlay.

Devery and Tammanyites Bandy Honeyed Words

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square,
NEW YORK, June 4.

Devery, the "Big Chief," has provided the political sensation of the week. He was interviewed at his seashore home at Rockaway beach yesterday, and today confirms what he said then. Summed up, he declares that Richard Croker is a "has been," that ex-Sheriff Dunn is a "channel-mouth," that the Tammany triumvirate, Murphy, McMahon and Hatfen, are not worth talking about, and that Tammany is in a bad way generally. The prevailing impression is that Devery would like to be leader of Tammany Hall, and that he will do his best to get to that position. He has a straight-away style of talking, and nothing disturbs him in the way of political blackguarding. His statements that he is against Croker and that he has no particular use for any of the men now "running" Tammany are the only topic of conversation of a political nature today. It is recalled that Croker stood by Devery when that gentleman was at the head of the police department and was the target for general attack by the newspapers, that it was Croker who took Devery into the Democratic club at a time when membership meant prestige to a Tammanyite, and that it was Croker who defended Devery in season and out of season against those who had not a good word to say for him. On the face of the present situation, the general opinion is that Devery is ungrateful to Croker, to say the least. Some of the men in New York whom Devery scored so unmercifully in the interview as it is quoted, have "come back at him." Ex-Sheriff Dunn says publicly that Devery is a "dub." To this he adds that Devery is a "big fake." But that does not trouble the "chief." These gentle personalities are amusing to the onlookers, and do not appear to hurt the participants. But, through it all, the question is, "Can Devery hope to become the 'big chief' of Tammany, just as he used to be of the New York police department?"

Pittsburghers Go Abroad.

Many distinguished Pittsburghers were passengers on the American liner St. Paul today, when she sailed from this port for Southampton. Among them were Mr. and Mrs. William Thaw Edwards, Miss Lidie T. Edwards, Mr. Fitzpatrick, Mr. E. Holcomb, Miss Frances E. Mullen, Mr. J. Philips and Mrs. Henry Phipps.

New Turn for Russell Sage.

Russell Sage has become fond of fun in his mature age. He has been loafing for a week or two now and he likes it so much that he does not care if he never goes to work again. It was understood that he would be in his Wall street office today, but he went driving instead. Uncle Russell has never been in the habit of playing hookey, but he seems to have fallen into the idle ways of summer. The next thing will be sending the truant officer after him.

Special Envoys Are "Off."

Uncle Sam's special envoys to represent the war and navy departments at the coronation of King Edward VII., Gen. James H. Wilson and Rear Admiral John C. Watson, sailed for England on the St. Paul today. Gen. Wilson remarked, before sailing, that he should wear the regulation uniform of a general at the coronation.

Memorial Fund Incomplete.

About $1,500 more is needed before the proposed memorial to Mrs. Foster, the "Tombs angel," can be erected. A great deal of money has been collected by public subscription, and the City club, which is in charge of the fund, is hopeful that eventually there will be means to put up a very fine monument. The "Tombs angel" was known by reputation all over the civilized world. She paid particular attention to young girls who happened to be charged with misdemeanors and crimes, and was besides a good friend to all prisoners in the gloomy building. Her tragic death in the fire that partly destroyed the Park Avenue hotel is fresh in the general mind. The work of raising money for a memorial has been going on ever since.

Back from Martinique.

Two of the correspondents of The Gazette and New York Herald who went down to Martinique immediately after the disaster that destroyed St. Pierre arrived in New York today. They are Hamilton Peltz and Walter S. Merriwether. Gazette readers will remember that each of them wrote for this paper thrilling accounts of the conditions at Martinique when they arrive, at the scene, as well as descriptions of the catastrophe itself, gathered from the lips of those who had been near enough to see it. Both gentlemen declare that pen and pencil are inadequate to convey a full impression of the horrors they witnessed, although in spite of their modesty the impression in Pittsburgh will be that they gave a graphic picture of the desolation wrought by the great volcano. It is easy to see that they have just returned from a tropical latitude, for both are much tanned, although they agree that the climate of the West Indies is decidedly healthful, in a general way.

Satisfied With "Skeets" Martin.

Among horsemen in this city there is a general feeling of satisfaction over the result of the English Derby. Around the hotels in and near Longacre square this evening there were many groups of men who had bet on the Derby, and a majority of them seemed to have had their money down on Ard Patrick. The fact that the American jockey, "Skeets" Martin, was up on the horse influenced many betting men in New York. Although they say that they knew the horse was all right, too. However this may be, it is evident that a great deal of money has been won by the regular sports of the town, and good humor was the rule in the hotel lobbies and on the Broadway sidewalks tonight.

Sad Day for Boy Enthusiasts.

From time immemorial it has been regarded as the natural thing for boys to peep through cracks in the fence at baseball games when they could not afford to pay. It was wrong, of course, but no one was punished for it. A new face was put on this kind of wickedness over in Brooklyn today, when a lad named Joseph Minogue was sent to jail for two days for cutting a hole in a fence. He was fined $2, but went to prison in default. The secretary of the Brooklyn baseball club told the magistrate that in the last three years the club has paid $1,500 for repairs to the fence.

Old Landmark Destroyed.

That truckmen have rights which everyone is bound to respect and at the same time that truckmen may go banging through the city pretty much as they please had an exemplification today when the Astor house clock, which has stood on the sidewalk in front of the famous hotel for many years, went crashing to the ground. A loaded fruit truck knocked it over. The clock has been a familiar object to many generations of business men, and has had the reputation of keeping good time. It was 10 feet high and cost $500. The truckman found it impossible to steer clear of it this morning, was arrested and someone will have to pay for the clock. Collisions are not uncommon in New York. While it is only once in a long while that a clock is the target of a rampaging truck, lamp posts often suffer and other vehicles get their full share of the frequent havoc. One of the commonest spectacles in the streets of the business district is a lamp post at an uncomfortable angle, apparently looking down at a shower of glass and twisted ironwork at its base. Uptown the cars are in perpetual peril. In West Twenty-ninth street, just off Broadway, this afternoon, the shaft of a wagon that was backed against the curb gave a car a "side swipe" that tore out all the windows and injured several passengers. One of them was shocked unconscious. There was a great taking-down of names in little notebooks and much recrimination, but that was the end of it. There may be suits for damages, but that depends on the determination of the injured passengers and whether the traction company thinks it worth while to go after the owner of the truck.

Troubles for Traction Company.

The new "car ahead" ordinance is to be tested in the district courts of New York next week. There are 12 or 15 cases to come up, wherein the complainant says he was compelled in the middle of a journey to leave a car in which he had supposed he would ride to his destination. The order to "take the car ahead" had disturbed him, and he had suffered much inconvenience in consequence. So the complaint will go in each case, or something like it. There was an ordinance passed not long ago forbidding the moving of a passenger from one car to another on pain of a fine of $100 for each offense. The saving clause that the traction company may put on each car what is to be its destination, and may move into the "car ahead" any passengers who desire to travel further may prevent many fines. But that is to be tested. The matter is one that interests virtually everyone in the city, and much interest is felt in the trials to be held next week. The corporation counsel's assistants say that many of the passengers who have made complaints about violations of the ordinance are under the impression that they will get the $100 fine. When they learn that the money goes to the city they will not be so zealous in appearing at court. But then, that is in accordance with human nature everywhere.

More Light for Broadway.

It is announced that the big Macy department store in Herald square, between Thirty-fourth and Thirty-fifth streets, will be ready for business this fall. Evidently, the "great white light district" is not to lose any of its brilliancy because a dry-goods store is to take the place of saloons, cigar stores and other establishments of frivolity. Jesse I. Straus, of the Macy firm, today placed the largest order for arc and incandescent lamps, 1,500 of the former and 20,000 of the latter ever placed for a retail firm. When these lamps are all going and the show windows are decked out for exhibition, this part of Broadway will not be the least attractive, even to blase men about town.

Shirt Waist a Failure.

The shirt waist for men, which tried hard to make itself popular last summer, is not much in evidence this year. The reason given by the manager of a prominent furnishing store in Broadway is that the shirt waist has no pockets. Man is essentially a pocket-wearing animal, and he hangs onto his coat and vest so that he may have places for his cigars, matches, penknife, five-dollar bills, "L" tickets and so on. The man that gave this explanation did so soberly enough, and perhaps meant what he said. But the explanation does not look feasible, so long as the average man has at least five pockets in his trousers.

New March by J. S. Duss.

John S. Duss has composed a new march, which will be played tomorrow night at Ft. Nicholas garden for the first time. The attendance at the garden continues to be enormous and Duss is the most popular bandmaster that has been in this city since the days of the lamented P. S. Gilmore.

Babies Thrive on East Side.

A Pittsburgher who often visits New York said to me this afternoon that he never ceases to be impressed by the way babies live here. "Somehow," said he, "some of the streets of New York seem to be given up to babies entirely. Especially is this the case on the East Side. After supper in the evening the baby is ubiquitous. The day's traffic is over, but the streets are even more noisy than during the daytime. To the tattle of the trucks has succeeded the calls and shouts of the children at play. The sidewalks cannot hold them, and they spread themselves all over the street. Naturally they break up into little groups, and if you observe closely you will find that each of these groups is presided over by a little girl of from 8 to 11 years of age. She assumes the air of a little mother to her younger charges, who are sometimes her small brothers and sisters. She takes the leadership in the games, quells disputes and sees that the babies are allowed to have a share in the games. If that same baby is not allowed what he considers his due part in the play he voices his protest in a strenuous wail. Then the "little mother" interferes and sees that the outraged infant's rights are not disregarded." She is a great institution this "little mother."

PERSONALS

Miss Alice Kauser of New York, the dealer in plays for the theatrical profession, was in the city yesterday to witness Miss Sarah Truax's new play, "Lady Godiva," at the Grand opera house, and went to Chicago last evening on the Pennsylvania limited. At the depot she said she had greatly enjoyed the play, and it was a production of the highest merit, such as would do credit to any theater in New York. She was especially complimentary in her reference to the marvelous results attained by Stage Director J. C. Huffman in the short time he had to stage the production. Miss Kauser expects to return on Saturday to look over the play again.

Stage Director J. C. Huffman of the Grand Opera House was a passenger over the Pennsylvania railroad last evening for Philadelphia, where he said he was going to look up a leading lady for the stock company next season to take the place of Miss Truax, who will star in "Lady Godiva." When asked for the names of the ladies whom he had in view he declined to commit himself, but when the name of Miss Henrietta Crosman was mentioned, he smiled and said, "perhaps."

W. T. Chapman of Ferguson & Co., the railroad contractors, went to New York last evening to look after some contracts upon which they are at work in the east. At the Union station he said that his firm had yesterday been awarded by Engineer J. W. Patterson of the Pittsburgh & Carnegie railroad the contract for five miles of the road, which is one of the new connections of the Wabash. The contract involves about $400,000 and includes sections 50 to 54 inclusive, between Mt. Jewett and Mingo Junction. They were also awarded by Chief Engineer J. H. McRoberts the contract for eight miles of the extension of the West Side Belt line, their bid being from $350,000 to $350,000. He also said that the work on the Mt. Washington tunnel was progressing steadily and rapidly, and that already some 200 feet on the south side had been bored, while the work on the north side was almost as far advanced.

It Was Rice and No Joke.

From the Washington Post.

Senator Frye is still up in Maine fishing. The sport must be good for Mr. Frye has been absent some time.

Mr. Frye delights to take guests with him up to his camp on the Rangeley lakes. Once upon a time he had Senator Chandler with him. One afternoon when the cook wanted to go to town, Mr. Chandler offered to prepare the dinner. He wrote out an elaborate menu, commencing with chicken soup. Having a faint idea that rice was used in making chicken soup, but having no idea at all of the amount that was necessary, Mr. Chandler emptied the entire pin car of rice into the soup. In a little while he was forced to take out the soup kettle and fill it up to the brim with boiled rice. Presently the kettle was spilling over again and several plates were filled. To make a long story short, Senator Chandler was busy all afternoon bailing rice out of his soup.

When the fishermen came back to dinner, Chandler had revised his menu. It began with rice, ended with rice, and had rice without intermission.

"Chandler," said Frye, "is this a joke?"

"No," said Chandler, "it's rice."

Chance to Get a Headache.

From the Washington Post.

Representative Grosvenor of Ohio, who, as every one knows, is the statistician of the house, circulated this problem in the cloak rooms yesterday:

Twelve persons stopped at a hotel over night. Their bill was $12. The old men paid $4 each, the old women paid $2 each, the young men 50 cents each, and the young women 25 cents each. How many old men, old women, young men and young women were in the crowd?

THE DEATH ROLL.

Robert Erwin.

Robert Erwin, a well-known business man of Sewickley, and for over 30 years a resident of that borough, died yesterday morning at 11 o'clock of heart disease at his home in Broad street. Mr. Erwin had been engaged in the livery business for many years in Sewickley, but a few years ago retired from active business life. He was born in Cumberland county, Pa. When the civil war broke out he assisted in organizing the Sewickley Rifles and served during the war with Company C of that command, which afterward was merged into the Twenty-eighth Pennsylvania regiment. Mr. Erwin was a member of Post No. 85, G. A. R., of Sewickley, of the Knights of Honor of Pittsburgh, and of the Sewickley Methodist Episcopal church. He is survived by five children, Mrs. William White, of Seattle, Wash.; Mrs. Mary Cunningham, of Leetonia, O.; Dr. Robert Erwin, of Sewickley; Edward Erwin, of Seattle, and Miss June Erwin, at home. Thomas Erwin of Sewickley is a brother.

Dr. John J. Briley.

Dr. John J. Briley, a well-known young physician of Lawrenceville, died yesterday morning at the home of his father, Robert Briley, No. 1001 Forbes street, of typhoid pneumonia. Dr. Briley was born in this city in October, 1874, and had always resided here. He received his preparatory training at the St. Vincent's Catholic college at Beatty, Pa. Error in Judge's Charge.

From the Washington Post.

"I heard a story on Representative Bartlett's father once," said a Georgian, "that I ought to be told in these parts," asserted Representative Roberts of Massachusetts.

"This man was long a judge on the Georgia bench and highly respected by a wide circle of people. In a murder trial he came to a charge to the jury in which he eloquently and vividly laid down the law as to the folly of carrying pistols. It seems that the defendant had gone out for a drink, became engaged in a fuss with the deceased, drew his pistol and fired the fatal shot.

"The details of the shooting, as well as the law bearing thereon, were rehearsed by Judge Bartlett, who told how the defendant's pistol had been in his hip pocket, how he put his hand back there in anger, and how he drew the pistol forth. He was illustrating by vigorous gestures, but right in the midst of the charge, as Judge Bartlett put his hand back to his hip pocket by way of demonstration, a pistol dropped therefrom and fell with a thump upon the floor.

"The scene in the court room can be imagined. There was a stillness, while the judge flushed with embarrassment.

"'Mr. Clerk,' he exclaimed, as soon as he had recovered, 'put me down on the book as fined $50 for carrying a weapon.'"

THE PSALMS IN THE MOUNTAINS.

In the great ocean's thunder
I heard the old songs ring.
I heard them in the prairies

With Israel's plaint was sweet,
And through the little hills I heard
Its solemn rhythm beat.

But oh, 'twas in the mountains
The great hymns held me thrall!

Echoed their challenge call,
With martial trumpets thrilling
The rough-hewn, brawny range,
And through dark canyons chanting
The spirit of all change.

In gathering snow stood deep;
The shepherd's through white meadows
Went stumbling for their sheep,
And where the lonely hamlet
Slept 'neath stern mountain walls,
The winds across the darkness
Sank hoarse antiphonals.

That from the lone height sang,

Society

MRS. WILLIAM P. SNYDER gave a large luncheon yesterday afternoon at "Wilpin Hall," her summer home in Sewickley Heights. It was one of the most beautiful entertainments of the season in that part of the Ohio valley. The guests were all from Pittsburgh and were met at the Sewickley station by four-in-hand coaches and driven out to "Wilpin Hall" in the Tuxedo region, a couple of miles back in the country. The pleasant day, the beautiful country roads and the picturesque scenery on all sides added to the charm of the entertainment provided by Mrs. Snyder.

"Wilpin Hall" is beautifully situated in the midst of the cluster of the millionaires' mansions which have sprung up in Sewickley Heights. Its name is a contraction of the owner's first two names, "Wilpin Hall" is surrounded by rolling lawns and shaded by handsome trees. In the immediate neighborhood of the house are beautiful gardens, now radiant with blooming flowers. The house itself is large and commodious and arranged befitting the wealth and position of its owner and his wife, who was formerly Miss Mary C. Black of Sewickley, a member of one of the old families of social prominence in the valley. Costly rugs and hangings, beautiful works of art and articles of interest gathered in many countries contribute to the beauty and interest of the interior of the house, while from the broad verandas which almost surround it can be obtained some of the finest views in that section of the country.

The luncheon yesterday was served at small tables simply decorated with spring flowers. The guests were chiefly the members of the whist clubs, of which Mrs. Snyder is also a member, the hostess being one of the best whist players in Pittsburgh. Luncheon was served at 2 o'clock, the guests spending the afternoon at "Wilpin Hall," returning to the city about 6 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Snyder closed their town house, one of the two fine colonial mansions at the head of Colonial place in Shadyside, the first of May. When the windows and doors were securely barred they opened their new summer residence, where they will remain until the late fall.

Young-Christie.

Last evening at 6:30 o'clock, in the Shady Avenue Baptist church, the wedding of Miss Bertha Young, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James S. Young of Dallas avenue, Shadyside, and L. Ray Christie of Steubenville, O., took place. The ceremony was performed by the pastor, the Rev. William A. Stanton, D. D. The bride was given away by her father, with whom she entered the church. She was gowned in white silk and muslin, trimmed with lace. The bridal veil swept to the edge of the full court train and the bride carried a shower bouquet of white bride roses. Mrs. Thomas Hanna was the matron of honor. There were no bridesmaids, Miss Amy Young and Miss Lida Young, sisters of the bride; Miss Florence Christie and Miss Edna Christie of Wooster, O., sisters of the bridegroom; Miss Emily Young of Canton and Miss Mary McMillan of this city. The matron of honor and the bridesmaids were prettily gowned in white mousseline trimmed with lace, the touch of contrasting color appearing in sashes of yellow chiffon. They carried bouquets of daisies. Thomas Linton of Steubenville was the best man, and the ushers were Thomas Hanna, Raymond Horner, B. M. Nesbit, Harry Odbert of Canton, O.; Arthur Cowperwaithe and Press C. Dauler.

The decorations were in green and yellow, palms and ferns and yellow roses being used, both at the church and at the home of the bride, where a reception was given and a supper served. Later in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Christie left on their wedding trip. They will go to Steubenville early in July. Among the wedding guests from other cities were Mrs. M. E. Christie of Wooster, O., and Mrs. W. C. Young and Mrs. A. B. Young of Canton, O. The bride is a second cousin of Maj. Gen. S. B. M. Young.

Mrs. William Flinn's Reception.

Mrs. William Flinn gave a large afternoon tea yesterday at her home in North Highland avenue. The hours were from 4 o'clock until 6, and over 500 guests were received by the hostess and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. George Hamilton Flinn. It was a large, general affair, though conducted informally. The great porches were inclosed with low hedges of palms and ferns and were furnished with matchless oriental rugs, chairs and tables. Refreshments were served there as well as in the immense dining room. Mrs. Flinn and Mrs. George Flinn received in the drawing rooms and were assisted by a group of friends, including Mrs. James Neale, Mrs. George L. McFarland, Mrs. Charles A. Rook, Mrs. Albert J. Logan, Mrs. Philip Flinn and Mrs. John Graham of Butler, who is visiting Mrs. William Flinn, and several of the younger married women. Tall palms were placed about the drawing room and in the large reception hall. Mantels were banked with ferns and jardinieres were filled with fragrant flowers. There was a lavishness about the decorations, which enhanced the richness of the appointments of the house. The piazzas, which extend around three sides of the mansion, were continually filled with the guests.

Welch-Callery.

James Dawson Callery of Pittsburgh and Miss Julia Van Bibber Welch of Charleston, W. Va., were married yesterday in New York city. The wedding took place in St. Francis Xavier church, the ceremony being performed by the Rev. Father John Rensselaer. The bride spent a year or two in Pittsburgh, returning to her home in West Virginia two months ago. Mr. Callery is well known as president of the Pittsburgh Railways Company, vice president of the Philadelphia Company, and director in several banks and trust companies. Since he sold his home in North Highland avenue to Alexander R. Peacock he has been interested in the remodeling and enlargement of his home in Ellsworth avenue, opposite Bidwell street. The new house will not be finished until fall. Mr. Callery and his family since leaving the Hotel Schenley in April have been living in Ellsworth avenue. Where they can oversee the progress made on their new home. The lawns surrounding the new mansion are beautifully laid out, rivaling in picturesqueness the E. H. Jennings place in Fifth avenue, one of the most beautiful in the city.

Wedding Rehearsal and Dinner.

The rehearsal for the wedding of Miss Elizabeth Hartley Mering and Charles Agnew McClung took place last evening at the home of Miss Mering's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. The wedding will take place this evening at 8 o'clock at the home of Thomas H. Hartley and the guests will be confined to the very extensive connection of the bride and bridegroom. The bride-elect is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Mering, and on both her mother's and father's sides is descended from revolutionary ancestors. Her only attendants will be the two maids of honor, Miss Florence Anderson and Miss Helen Kerr. The groomsmen will be T. C. Howard and Murray McClung, a brother of the bridegroom. Charles A. McClung, the bridegroom, is a son of Murray McClung and a nephew of Judge S. A. McClung. The young man is an engineer connected with the Carnegie Steel Company.

Toole, who has general charge of many amusement features, will be the judge at the Irish jig and reel dancing contests. Naylor-Scoville.

One of the daintiest weddings in Sewickley was that of Miss Nannie Naylor, daughter of Dr. R. H. L. Naylor, and Royal L. Scoville, which occurred yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. I. Shannon in Sewickley, an uncle and aunt of the bride.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Robert Benton, pastor of the St. Stephen's Episcopal church, Sewickley, and an orchestra hidden behind a huge mound of palms on the inclosed veranda played "Lohengrin's" wedding march for the bridal party to enter the parlor. Miss Naylor was given away by her father, with whom she entered, and her matron of honor was Mrs. C. I. Shannon. Mr. Scoville's only attendant was Mr. Lyon Logan of Pittsburgh. The bride was most handsome in her elaborate gown of white crepe de chine, with trimmings of point de venise lace. She wore a tulle veil with decorations of orange blossoms and carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses. Mrs. Shannon's dress was of white embroidered batiste, having an elaborate light green sash. She carried maidenhair ferns tied with white chiffon. The decorations were of white and green and were very artistic. In the parlor were white orange blossoms, peonies and roses, the mantel and fireplace in front of which the bridal party stood during the ceremony, were draped with maidenhair ferns and asparagus, with white roses and orange blossoms. In the dining room the same color scheme was observed, there being roses, carnations, maidenhair ferns and a large centerpiece on the table of white sweet peas and orange blossoms. Following the wedding was a reception, after which Mr. and Mrs. Scoville started on an extended eastern trip, to be gone until July 1, when they will be at home at Park Place hotel, Sewickley. Mr. Scoville is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Royal Scoville of Pittsburgh, and is well-known in the valley. The wedding guests were received by Mrs. Christian McKee, a cousin of the bride, and Mr. Christian L. Shannon, on the handsome veranda.

Dr. Harry Wood, assisted by the Rev. Dr. William E. Slemmons, pastor of the First Presbyterian church. About 500 invitations for the wedding had been issued. Mrs. Joseph A. McCord of Pittsburgh, a sister of the bride, was matron of honor, Miss Martha Morgan Watson, a cousin, was flower girl, and Francis H. Wood of Washington, a brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Mrs. McCord, the matron of honor, was gowned in pink satin, chiffon and lace, and carried pink roses. The flower girl wore a white gown and carried pink and white roses.

She is a member of one of Washington's oldest families and has been a prominent Washington society girl and is a graduate of the Washington seminary. The groom, John Ewing Woods, is a son of the Rev. Dr. Henry Woods, who has been a member of the faculty of Washington and Jefferson college for many years, and is himself a graduate of that institution. He is at present assistant general manager of the safe for the Carnegie company in Pittsburgh. Mr. and Mrs. Woods, on their return from the east, will live in Pittsburgh.

Mrs. Gillespie and Mrs. Robert W. Gillespie received in the drawing room, which was daintily decorated with ferns and pink and white peonies. In the dining room, where refreshments were served, the table was decorated with profusion of beautiful Spanish iris, while across the hall in the breakfast room where some of the guests were seated, were unconventional arrangements of corn flowers. Assisting the hostess in receiving her guests were Mrs. A. R. Peacock, Mrs. C. A. Verner, Mrs. A. R. Clemson, Mrs. James A. Wilson, Mrs. W. O. Woods, Mrs. John McLeod, Mrs. Arthur V. Great Sale of Laces.

Recent Purchases from Overstocked Importers at a Tremendous Sacrifice

A most unusual opportunity to buy choice desirable Laces just at a time when you need them at two-thirds—a half—and in some instances even a quarter of their regular value. Our buyer made a tour of the New York market last week and found conditions thus: Importers heavily overloaded on account of a backward season, and anxious to sell choice desirable laces at a tremendous loss. We snapped up several big lots at our own figures, hence the importer's extremity is your opportunity. [SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Philadelphia, June 4.—For seven innings today's game between Philadelphia and Pittsburgh was close and exciting, but the champions easily batted out a victory. The visitors had on their batting clothes and batted both Magee and Duggleby hard. The former retired before the end of the first inning.

Duggleby did very well for two innings, but after that he was hit hard. Bransfield led the hitting with four singles out of five times at the bat, and "Lefty" Davis was the only man who did not get a hit.

The Umpires Got a Roast.

The contest was very scrappy from start to finish, the spectators taking many exceptions to decisions made by the umpires, and there was a continual hooting and hissing. The trouble was started in the first inning, when Powers, who was working on the bases, made an ancient decision. He allowed Leach to work the old trap ball trick and make a double play on an infield fly. The batter should have been declared out before Leach touched the ball, but Powers gave both men out and received an unmerciful roast from the 1,651 spectators. Brown behind the bat was also off on balls and strikes.

Pittsburgh got busy immediately after play was called, Davis taking first on balls, second on a passed ball, scoring on Clarke's single. Beaumont also hit safely and Wagner walked, filling the bases. Bransfield's single struck Houns on the leg and retired him, but Clarke counted on the hit. Duggleby then supplanted Magee and Ritchey fouled out. Bransfield stole second and the bases were made full of Leachmen, but Smith could not get the ball past the pitcher.

The Phillies had a batting streak in the fourth and earned three runs. Douglass started with a double, Barry fouled out, out Jackiitsch singled, scoring Douglass. Hulswitt hit for two bases, sending in Jackiitsch. Hallman hit to deep left, and in trying to stretch the hit into a triple was thrown out at third. Hulswitt scored on the hit. This gave the Phillies a lead of one run, but outside of this inning Tannehill kept the Phillies down.

Pittsburgh tied the score in the fifth. Beaumont singled and scored on Wagner's two-bagger. Hulswitt knocked down Bransfield's single and saved a run, holding Wagner on third. Ritchey and Leach were retired without further scoring. The visitors again took the lead in the sixth, scoring one run on Smith's single, Tannehill's hit, Davis' sacrifice and Clarke's out. But the Pirates immediately tied it up again on their half by a two-base muff by Bransfield on Beaumont's fly and Hallman's second two-bagger.

Pirates Put the Game Safe.

The visitors started to clean up in the eighth. Davis drew a pass and Clarke hit for two bases. Davis tallied on Beaumont's fly to Thomas. In the ninth Pittsburgh put the game on the safe side by scoring two more runs. Bransfield singled, but Browne made a great running catch on Ritchey's fly. Leach hit through Hulswitt and Smith's single sent in Bransfield. Jackiitsch also hit safely and Leach came home. The Phillies went out in order in the last two innings. The score:

NOTES OF THE GAME.

Kitty Bransfield swung his bat with telling effect yesterday, out of five times up Kitty had four hits, all of them good, healthy singles.

There's nothing like good, healthy swats to win ball games. The Pirates found their batting eyes yesterday and a victory was the result.

That was a warm greeting the champions gave Billy Magee, the ex-colonel, yesterday. They drove him from the slab in one inning, the first up being Leonard Cohen, Duggleby's successor.

If there is a player in the league who can beat Lefty Davis in the run-getting line he should be trotted out. Lefty failed to get a safe hit yesterday, but he scored two runs just the same.

Little Tommy Leach had a very busy day of it around third base, having eight chances, which he accepted as clean as a whistle, and he helped along the victory with his bat, getting two timely singles.

McDonald, the youngster who worked one day for the Giants and got three hits, quit the team before he could have an idle reason that he did not believe himself fast enough for the big league. That young man has candor, if nothing else.

Jesse Tannehill not only pitched well yesterday, but he had with him down game with his bat. Jess had two hits out of three times at bat, and he is pounding the leather in a way that indicates he intends to hold onto the title of being the champions best batsman.

That bad run that the Pirates are getting in Philadelphia's swell hostelry must have had a magical effect on Harry Smith. When the champions left here Monday night Harry walked as effectively as a pair of crutches, and yet he jumped in yesterday and caught a splendid game, besides doing his share in the batting line.

Beaumont got back into the game again yesterday and signalized his return by making two hits and one run. The shift in the Pirates on Tuesday was made to give Conroy a fair chance to do the like at work with the champions. Conroy lives across the Delaware and there was a crowd of his friends and relatives out to see him play with the Pittsburgh team.

R. G. DEEVERS,

Now keep an eye on Col. John I. Rogers. He is liable to have the whole American league in jail for defying the supreme court ruling of this state. The playing of Lajoie at Cleveland yesterday was a very foolish move on the part of the American league, and its promoters will likely find that out. The supreme court ruled that Lajoie belonged to the Philadelphia club, and could not play with any other team.

GIANTS WON AT LAST.

NEW YORK, June 4.—New York broke the ice with a victory today, defeating Chicago in a 10-inning game. Jackson, who covered left field for the New Yorks, was released, and Hartley played that position. McDonald, who covered right field for New York Monday and yesterday, told Secretary Knowles today that he did not think he was fast enough for National league company and went home to Delaware. LOCAL OARSMEN WILL CONTEST IN BIG REGATTA

Columbia Scullers Start Training to Be Ready for the National.

ALLEGHENY RIVER LIVELY

The Rowers Are Out Every Night, and Big Crowds Watch From the Bridges—May Hold a Regatta Here This Season.

The sculling season has opened in Pittsburgh, and the Allegheny river is again active these evenings with the training of the members of the Columbia Boat club, while the Sixth and Seventh street bridges are lined with spectators, watching the graceful movements of the oarsmen. The Columbia club chose new officers at a recent election and announces that it will be well represented in the national regatta this year, while it is the intention, if possible, to hold a big regatta here, which will be open to the scullers of the country, and help to arouse interest in the sport which was once such a feature of Smoky City athletic activity.

In the national regatta of amateur oarsmen to be held August 8 and 9 on Lake Quinsigamond, Mass., this year Pittsburgh will be represented in the double class by John Zetwo and Frank Jamison, who row the fastest pair of oars in local waters. In the single class John Morin is likely to compete. Morin and Miller were in the singles for the club last season and were in the final heat. Zetwo and Jamison were also contestants, but were not tried together enough, and were not in the condition they hope to be in this year.

The Columbia scullers are already looking to the local regatta, which the Hentasophs intend to hold on the Monongahela river this summer, and a match race arranged, though the date has not yet been set, will be between John Schnaufer, one of the veterans, and Lawrence Mitchell, one of the younger members. The full squad of scullers has not come out yet, but among those training are Jamison, William Snyder, John Morin, Charles Rogers, John Zetwo, John Schnaufer, Ben Kiser and Mitchell.

The great handicap to sculling locally is the absence of a rival boat club to make things interesting for the Columbia, and there will again be efforts made to organize one this season for the purpose of booming the sport.

The new officers of the Columbia club elected are as follows: Lee Cavett, president; Frank Jamison, vice president; John Zetwo, treasurer; John Schnaufer, secretary, and William Snyder, John Morin and Charles Rogers, on the board of directors.

TREGO THE LEADER.

Pittsburgh Shooter Second in the Events at Irwin.

IRWIN, PA., June 4.—(Special.)—The first day shoot of the Irwin Gun club today attracted a large crowd, with 25 entries for all events, two classes and 10 jack rabbit contests. The wind was a trifle high for good shooting, but some good scores were made. Trego of South Fork headed the list, with 10 misses out of a total of 150 targets. Fleming of Pittsburgh second, with 11 misses; Deneger of Ruffsdale, third, with 12; Frost of Ruffsdale, fourth, with 16. Athers of Ruffsdale carried off the honors in the class shoot. A feature of the day was the dedication of the new club house of the Irwin Gun club. On tomorrow's shoot there are 12 events scheduled, with about 30 entries.

ALLEGHENY GOLF TEAM MEETS EDGEWORTH

Sewickley Weakened by Loss of Porter—Results of Semi-Finals for Foursome Cups.

The match golf contest between the Edgeworth and Allegheny Country club teams will be played this afternoon on the Edgeworth course at Sewickley. This match, which is the opening one of the season for Allegheny, was to have been played yesterday, but was postponed at the request of Allegheny until next Monday, and the date again changed on account of the absence of R. P. Nevin, Jr., from the city next week.

The match, even though Edgeworth has the advantage of the home course, should be an easy victory for Allegheny, as Edgeworth has lost its chief strength in J. E. Porter, who will be found with the Allegheny Country club this season. He does not play in today's match, as he is out of the city. R. P. Nevin, Jr., is now easily the leading player of the Edgeworth team. The teams today will play as follows:

Allegheny—	Edgeworth—
John Moorhead, Jr.,	R. P. Nevin, Jr.
W. N. Murray.	Hon. Elliot Rodgers.
B. S. Horne,	G. L. Shannon.
O. D. Thompson,	W. N. Kerr.
S. M. Byers,	C. B. McVay, Jr.,
J. B. Shea.	Sidney Liggett.

In the semi-final matches for the mixed foursome cups, offered by the Edgeworth club, Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Nevin, Jr., defeated Dr. Collard White and Miss Conrad, 3 up and 2 to play, the latter having a handicap of 11 strokes. Mr. and Mrs. C. B. McVay, Jr., won from John Dix and Miss Martha Porter by default. The final match will be played on Friday between Mr. and Mrs. Nevin and Mr. and Mrs. McVay.

VARDON IN LEAD.

Six Strokes Ahead of Champion Braid in Competition for the Open Golf Honors.

LONDON, June 4.—The contests for the open golf championship commenced at Heylake today. The 112 entries, the largest on record, included all the professional cracks, but some of the well-known amateurs were absent. The championship will be decided by strokes, over 72 holes.

At the end of the first round Harry Vardon led the field, finishing in 72, two strokes better than Champion Braid's record over this green. Braid's score today was 78. Hilton and Maxwell made 79.

One of the sensations of the day was the play of a Frenchman, Armand Massey of Biarritz, who scored 77. His driving was especially fine.

ANOTHER WORLD'S RECORD.

Howard Freeman Went Ten Very Fast Miles.

BALTIMORE, June 4.—Howard Freeman lowered the world's 10-mile motor-paced bicycle record in the second heat of his race with De Guichard, at the local coliseum tonight.

The former world's record was 14:49 3-5, made at the Pan-American exposition last year on August 15, by Harry Elkes. Freeman's new figure is 14:47 4-5.

Labor Party Launched.

DENVER, COL., June 4.—The organization of a new political labor party has finally been agreed upon by the western labor union convention, which adopted a declaration for socialism and independent political action. The convention today adopted the name, "The American Labor Union," for the organization and voted to send organizers throughout the east.

THE EIGHTEENTH HAS DEVELOPED NEW DEADLOCK

Stiff Contest Is on for Principal of Mt. Albion District Schools.

THE RESULTS ELSEWHERE

School Boards Organize and Elect Teachers in Many Places—Old Instructors Favorites—Strange Discovery at Turtle Creek.

In every school district of the county school board officers, teachers and principals are being elected. In most cases the elections are proceeding quietly and without any bitter contests. In a few cases, however, there is much rivalry, and deadlocks are in hand or threatened.

The Mt. Albion sub-district of the Eighteenth ward turns up with what threatens to be a repetition of the long deadlock of four years ago, when the board failed to select a principal until a summer had been spent in fruitless balloting and the school term had begun.

The directors of the Mt. Albion district met last night in the McCandless school at Butler street and McCandless avenue. It was generally known that there would be opposition to the re-election of Miss Rose A. McCleary, the principal, and many citizens stood about, waiting for someone to start something.

The board finally organized by the election of Dr. E. W. Kirkpatrick as president, Enoch George as secretary and James H. Gallagher as treasurer. A great many bills were approved, amounting to nearly $5,000.

Deadlocked Again.

After a long wait the matter of electing a principal was brought up and the name of Miss McCleary was suggested. Miss Jennie Martin, now assistant to the principal of the district, was nominated in opposition, and as no further names were suggested, a ballot was taken on the two. It resulted in a deadlock, three directors voting each way. Five more ballots were taken without breaking the vote. The assistant principal, Miss Martin, and the corps of teachers employed the past year were re-elected without opposition.

The treasurer was ordered to file a bond of $25,000 for the approval of the directors. On motion the board adjourned to meet next Monday night at 8 o'clock to consider such business as may properly come before it. There have been about a dozen applications for the principalship filed with the secretary, all provisional upon Miss McCleary not acting a candidate. None of these were presented last night.

Marriages Predicted.

The Nineteenth ward school board elected the following officers for the ensuing year: President, D. L. Gillespie; secretary, R. M. Sterrett; treasurer, James E. Rogers. J. P. Stephens was re-elected principal and Miss Annie M. Till assistant principal of the schools. All the corps of teachers were retained.

There were 32 new applicants for positions as teachers, all of whom stated in their applications that they had heard there would be vacancies caused by the marriages of six of the lady teachers during the coming summer. The board has no knowledge of these prospective vacancies, and so elected the old teachers.

The directors of the Hancock school, Fifth ward, met last night and organized by electing Lawrence P. Horan president and Edward J. McLaughlin secretary. Miss Mary J. McElroy was elected principal and the following corps of teachers named: Annie G. Newmont, Catherine Barry, Mary Dolan, Kathryn E. Hays, Kate O'Neil, Rose Caulfield, Mary G. McMunigle, Mae Sweeney, Elizabeth Crowley and Nellie Mowry.

Old Teachers Re-Elected.

The school board of the Thirty-first ward met at the Allen school last night and organized as follows: President, H. J. Hartzel; secretary, William Johnson; treasurer, Peter Sterkel; physical instructor, Prof. Henry Elling. Frederick Kline was chosen as a member of the central board of education. The old corps of teachers was re-elected.

Wilmerding school board reorganized last night and elected the following officers: Richard Bestock, president, and R. L. Easler, secretary. The other members of the board are W. L. Hauley, John McCormick, Christopher Horrocks and James Mason. The board decided to hold the annual school picnic at Idlewild on June 25.

The school board of Edgewood has chosen Prof. Borger of Sewickley as principal of the public schools for the ensuing year. There are two vacancies in the teachers' corps, which will be filled at a meeting to be held next Monday evening.

The school board of Wilkinsburg will meet again next Monday evening to elect eight additional school teachers for the ensuing year to fill existing vacancies. All the teachers who served last year were re-elected by the board.

Something Was Wrong.

The Turtle Creek school board found yesterday that it had not elected a president the night before. The board had been deadlocked on the selection of a president since Monday night, the vote being three to three for Grant Richards and Dr. W. G. Plattner. It was announced on Tuesday night that Grant Richards had received four votes, and he was declared elected. Yesterday the members got talking together and could not account for the four votes. Last night there was another meeting of the board and Dr. Plottner received four votes and was declared president. There is now a deadlock for secretary.

East Pittsburgh school board organized last night by electing John Simons president; John Glunt, secretary, and Z. A. Powell, treasurer. All of the teachers were re-elected. The millage was set at 7½ cents, 5½ for schools and 2 for building.

The school board of Munhall reorganized last night by electing the following officers: H. J. Davis, president; G. E. Wisner, secretary, and J. O. Miller, treasurer. John Bell, the only new member of the board, was sworn in, and J. C. Spiker of Philadelphia was elected principal of the schools. The election of teachers for the coming year will be taken up at a special meeting to be held Friday.

J. K. Milligan, president; J. S. Donellan, secretary, and George Watt, treasurer, were elected by the school board of Rankin at a meeting last night. The old staff of teachers was re-elected. A meeting will be held on Friday to fix the millage for the year.

NEARLY 400 FEET ABOVE THE STREET

"RED" DALY FASCINATES HUNDREDS.

An excited crowd of 400 people blackened the Grant street approaches of the court house at 5 o'clock yesterday evening. They watched with trepidation a man climbing the great flag staff over the Frick building, 400 feet above. It was "Red" Daly, a participant in the six-day walking match at Old City hall last winter. He looked to be about the size of an incandescent light bulb as he moved upward. The crowd watched anxiously.

He was within about 20 feet of the top when he dropped the rope he carried to run through the pulley to be used in raising and lowering the great American colors which are to be wafted well above the pinnacle of the great bee-hive of industrial offices. After dropping the rope the daring climber abandoned his task for the time being. Some said he had become frightened. Later it was stated that the climbers he wore hurt his feet.

Tonight Daly promises to accomplish the purpose of the climb and B. J. Foley, superintendent of the Frick building, believes he will do it. From the point where Daly started to climb the altitude from the Grant street level is 342 feet. The pole is about 70 feet high.

FIRST STREET PARADE.

Bellevue Citizens Had Gala Time in Honor of Innovation.

Bellevue had its first street parade last night. The Columbia volunteer fire company wanted to raise money, so it had as its guests fire companies from Wilkinsburg, Wilmerding, Turtle Creek and Avalon. There were two bands. Company K, Fourteenth regiment, and the boys of the Christian church Sunday school. The column formed in Rodgers avenue and went to Avalon and back again.

On the lawn of Mrs. J. M. Barth the ladies had established booths and a fireworks display was given. Both bands played "See, the Conquering Hero Comes," and the Hon. W. B. Kirker, member of the legislature, presented a bouquet to Fire Chief Charles Fisher.

FEARS GYPSIES HAVE HIM.

South Side Father Reports to Police Possible Abduction of His Son.

John Clark, a mill worker living at No. 86 Brownsville avenue, reported to the police yesterday that he thought his son Joseph, 8 years old, had been carried off by a wandering band of gypsies. The boy attended the Knox school and the last seen of him by his companions was about the time six wagons of gypsies passed along. The boy never ventured near the river and it is not thought he was drowned.

A description of the lad was sent out. He has dark brown hair, black eyes and red cheeks. He wore blue knee pants, a blue striped waist and a gray cap.

FEW COMBINES NECESSARY

Resources of Country Require Large Capital for Their Development—Illinois Manufacturers' Association Celebrates Prosperity at Banquet.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Chicago, June 4.—One of the largest and most enthusiastic gatherings ever assembled in the large banquet hall of the Auditorium was present tonight at a dinner of the Illinois Manufacturers' association. James J. Hill, president of the Great Northern Railway Company, was the orator of the occasion. His subject was "Commercial Expansion," the banquet being in the nature of a celebration of the prosperity pointed to by the organization, as a result of expansion policy. Mr. Hill said in part:

The development of commerce is the effort by a country to find a market for its own production, or to supply itself with materials for its necessities, or to further increase the means of commercial expansion. The commercial expansion of a nation is the best index of its growth.

In the past the public domain suited to cultivation of the soil, producing every useful crop, has furnished homes for the multiplying population. Today we have about reached the limit of our public domain.

Consequently the question from a broad, national standpoint, I think I am safe in saying that next to the Christian religion and the common schools, no other single work enters into the welfare and happiness of the people of the whole country to the same extent as the railway.

The value of the oriental trade runs back to the very dawn of history. Early in the nineteenth century, Great Britain took possession of the trade and has retained it to the present time, for the reason that she furnished the lowest rates of transportation. We are now preparing to challenge her for such share of this business as can be furnished by the manufactures of the United States.

In a country as large as ours, carrying on enormous undertakings, large amounts of capital are necessary, and this capital can be more readily furnished by corporate ownership than in any other way. The only serious objection to so-called trusts has been the method of treating them—not for the purpose of making any particular commodity in the first place, but for the purpose of selling shares of printed securities which represent nothing more than good will and prospective profit to the promoters. If it is the desire of the general government, through congress, to prevent the growth of such corporations, it has always seemed to me that a simple remedy was within their reach. Under the constitutional provision allowing congress to regulate commerce between the states, all companies desiring to transact business outside of the state in which they are incorporated, should be held to a uniform provision of federal law. They should satisfy a commission that their capital stock was actually paid up in cash or in property, at a fair valuation, just as the capital of the national bank is certified to be paid up. With that simple law the temptation to make companies for the purpose of selling prospective profits would be at an end, and, at the same time, no legitimate business would suffer.

LIQUOR DEALERS TO CONVENE HERE

SEVENTH ANNUAL MEETING OF THE ASSOCIATION.

Sessions to Be Held on Two Days Next Week—Report That a New Political Party Is to Be Launched Is Vigorously Denied.

The National Wholesale Liquor Dealers' association will hold its seventh annual convention at the Hotel Henry, Wednesday and Thursday of next week. There are about 250 members, and from the reports received it is judged that nearly all of them will be present.

The officers of the association are: President, William E. Broderick, Baltimore; first vice-president, W. N. Hobart, Cincinnati; second vice-president, A. M. Hellman, St. Louis; treasurer, Ephraim Brice, Philadelphia; secretary, David Stauber, Baltimore; executive committee, J. W. Freiberg, A. J. Sunstein, M. W. Murphy, Louis Grestley and August Graf. The board of control numbers 21 members from almost as many cities, being scattered over the States from Maine to California.

There will be three business sessions. Among the important matters to be considered is the reduction of the tax on whisky. This was considered at the meeting last year, and a bill has been presented to congress. After the second session on Wednesday the delegates will go up the river on a boat, and will inspect the Homestead steel works. Thursday night there will be a banquet.

The report has been sent out from Louisville that Angelo Myers, manager of the Distilling Company of America, had said that there was to be held in Pittsburgh on June 6, a meeting of all of the national associations of liquor dealers and brewers, for the purpose of organizing a political party, nominating a liquor candidate for president, and taking steps to secure control of the country for the liquor interests.

Liquor dealers say there is absolutely no truth in the report, and no foundation for it. F. C. Renziehausen, a member of the board of control of the National Wholesale Liquor Dealers' association, says he never heard of such a move, and if such was contemplated by the association he would know of it.

Louis C. Zoughshmidt said last night: "Myers knows nothing about it." He ridiculed the idea that politics has anything to do with the meeting, or that any attempt would be made to mix politics with business. He said it would be impossible for the different national associations to meet together. He is of the opinion that some person who heard of the meeting of the wholesalers, had jumped at the conclusion that it was for the purpose of manipulating politics.

John P. Ober, treasurer of the Pittsburgh Brewing Company, said that the United States Brewers' association is certainly not a party to any organization formed or to be formed for the purpose of having anything to do with politics. The annual meeting of the United States Brewers' association will be at Saratoga, N. Y., Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of next week, and certainly could not meet in two places at the same time.

F. W. Mueller, president of the Pittsburgh Brewing Company, is in Europe, but is expected back in time to attend the meeting at Saratoga.

Electric Stock Marked Down.

PHILADELPHIA, June 4.—The stockholders of the Electric Company of America today assented to the proposition to reduce the capital stock from $30 to $10 a share. The capital of the company is now $25,000,000.

THE SLASHER WAS PARTLY IDENTIFIED

Employes of Pittsburgh Malleable Iron Co. Say He Worked There as Joseph Derlick.

Detectives Richard Kelly and George Waggoner succeeded in making a partial identification of the slasher yesterday afternoon. Although he gave his name as John Durby when arrested, he was known as Joseph Derlick while employed at the Pittsburgh Malleable Iron Company at Thirty-fourth and Smallman streets. He went to work there on May 10 and was there for two weeks. His identification was made by a time-keeper, but he did not know where Derlick lived. Derlick refused to divulge his place of residence. He was committed to jail to await an investigation.

A telephone message was sent to the bureau of detectives late yesterday afternoon from the Pittsburgh Malleable Iron works, stating the slasher had been recognized by his photograph in the evening papers. Detectives Waggoner and Kelly went to the works and learned that Durby had been working there as a laborer for about two weeks. He gave his name to the time-keeper as Joseph Derlick. As the check system is used in paying the men, Derlick's residence was not recorded.

The time-keeper remembered, however, that Derlick had been rooming with a man named Grosmen in Forty-third street. The detectives went to this place and found the house had been vacant for two months. When the detectives confronted Derlick with this identification he denied that he was the man.

The time-keeper is certain that Durby is the man who was employed in the mills. This morning he will go to the jail and complete the identification. The detectives believe that Durby is an anarchist. His actions and appearance lead them to this belief. He was silent and morose during the day. Yesterday morning Superintendent McAleese decided to send him with detectives to the places he had frequented during the last two weeks. The object of this was to make him talk. Several of the houses were visited in Fisk street, but as Durby still remained reticent the detectives decided to take him back to the station house.

WALKER'S SOAP

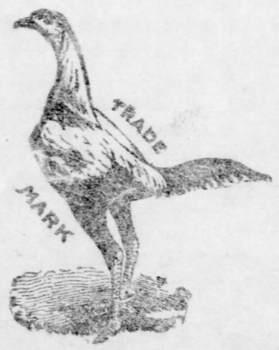
Is not the lowest priced, yet it is the cheapest.

It is made from Cocoanut Oil and Edible Tallow, and these are so sweet and clean that they are fit for food.

Low priced soap is low priced because it is made from vile greases gathered from garbage or from animals that have died of disease.

These greases are combined with strong alkali, and adulterated with marble dust, starch and silicate of soda.

It is false economy to rot and destroy your clothes by using vile soap that you would not touch if you saw what was in it.



Walker's Soap is a clean, sanitary soap.
Be sure you get the soap with the

MRS. EDINGER IS FOUND GUILTY OF MANSLAUGHTER

Defense Unable to Prove That Epileptic Fits Produce Insanity.

SHOT HUSBAND TO DEATH

Mrs. Emma Bolton, Sister of the Defendant, Told of Quarrels Resulting From Consumption of Whisky and Cider.

Mrs. Sarah Edinger was found guilty of voluntary manslaughter in criminal court yesterday for the killing of her husband, John Edinger, at their home near Verona, May 5. The case was tried before Judge McClung, and is said to have been the shortest murder trial in Allegheny county. The testimony was completed before 3 o'clock, and the jury was out less than an hour.

An attempt was made by attorneys for the defense, J. Francis Burke and C. W. Hamilton, to prove that the defendant was subject to spells of insanity, brought about by epileptic fits. The jury was instructed, should they find the defendant not guilty, to return a verdict of not guilty by reason of insanity. Mrs. Edinger did not testify.

Drs. J. M. Hamilton and S. D. Clarke testified that Edinger came to his death by reason of a bullet rupturing blood vessels leading to the heart.

Sister's Damaging Evidence.

Mrs. Emma Bolton, sister of the defendant, testified that considerable whisky and hard cider was drunk by the defendant on that day and that she and her husband had several petty quarrels. She said the defendant and her husband finally quarreled in the yard. The defendant then entered the house, secured a revolver, returned and snapped the trigger twice at her husband. The witness said she tried to take the revolver from her sister but the latter turned and snapped it at her. She then turned and shot her husband in the left breast.

Alfred Edinger, a brother, told a similar story. Many of Mrs. Edinger's neighbors testified that she had never acted peculiarly before.

Dr. J. M. Hamilton of Verona said he knew the defendant quite well and was not surprised when he heard that she took practically no interest in her case. He said she was subject to epileptic fits, and he had been called to attend her on several occasions when she had been overcome by these fits. He said she seemed to be under the influence of these fits, for a day or so before and after they attacked her, and that he prescribed more for her mental than her physical condition.

Dr. McCombs' Testimony.

Dr. McCombs of Tarentum corroborated Dr. Hamilton's testimony as to the defendant's mental condition shortly before and after one of these attacks.

Dr. A. V. Chesrown, jail physician, told of her condition when she was taken to jail. He said she was very quiet and apparently did not realize where she was. On the second day of her confinement she was attacked with an epileptic fit, which was followed by two more during a short time. He said she gradually grew better but did not fully realize her confinement until the fifth day. From what he had heard of her and what he had observed he thought she was not responsible for her actions for a day previous and a day after these fits, which affected her nearly every month.

District Attorney Haymaker asked if an epileptic fit was insanity, or whether whisky or cider would produce insanity. A negative answer was given.

John Friend was found guilty of forgery and false pretense. He was sentenced to serve three years and six months in the workhouse.

INFRINGEMENT CHARGED.

Litigation Over Patents Has Commenced Between Rival Telephone Companies.

A bill in equity was filed in the United States circuit court by the American Bell Telephone Company against the Pittsburgh and Allegheny Telephone Company. It is charged that the defendant company has infringed upon three patents for improvements on telephone and transmitting circuits, and that the defendant company will continue to use them unless restrained by the court. These improvements are not described in the bill. They are said to have been granted to Chester A. Bell, August 3, 1880; to Isador Kitsel, in 1890, and to H. V. Hays in 1892.

In the case of Herman Weilsch against the Iron City tool works, an action based on alleged failure to carry out a contract, the plaintiff was awarded $2,700. This was the last case upon the list of the May term.

In the United States district court an order was made authorizing the sale of the Monongahela pharmacy, 11 Smithfield street, at public sale.

William B. Findley, a carpenter of Franklin, filed a petition in bankruptcy. His liabilities are $7,415.52 and assets $7,100.

TO IMPROVE ROADS.

County Commissioners Award Contracts for Five County Thoroughfares.

The county commissioners have awarded contracts for the improvement of parts of five county roads. Foley Bros. an Ohio firm, were awarded the contract for the improvement of six miles of the Library road for $103,076. Booth & Flinn were awarded the contract for improving one and seven-eighths miles of the Bellevue road at $33,178.50, and three and one-fifth miles of the Thompson Run road at $31,397. Howley Bros. were awarded the contract for improving three-fourths of a mile of the Baldwin road at $11,123. The contract for improving three and one-fifth miles of the Little Pine Creek road went to Keeling & Ridge for $33,017.25.

MRS. EAGLE INDICTED.

Grand Jury Found a True Bill for the Alleged Murder of Edna Varner.

The grand jury returned a true bill against Mrs. Letitia Eagle for the alleged murder of Edna Varner, aged 13 years, who was found dead in Mrs. Eagle's house in Bellevue on May 5. There are two counts against Mrs. Eagle, viz., murder and manslaughter. The indictment charges that she "feloniously, willfully and with malice aforethought did make and assault the said Edna Varner, then and there feloniously, willfully and of her malice aforethought did kill and murder."

Six witnesses were before the grand jury. They are County Detective Robert G. Robinson, Dr. Walter McCandless, Miss McClintock, Mrs. Naughton, Miss Naughton and Mrs. W. E. Cowan.

A true bill for involuntary manslaughter was returned against Patrick Donnelly. He is charged with throwing John Means down some steps at 1210 Laurel street, Allegheny, on May 24. At this time Means received injuries which caused his death at the Allegheny General hospital a short time after.

Partner Charges Conspiracy.

In a bill in equity filed by F. O. Harley, a receiver for the Lincoln Avenue Pharmacy, limited, is asked for. It is charged that upon March 26, 1902, S. H. McCain and W. M. McCleary fraudulently entered into a conspiracy to secure the business and assets of the company and forcibly took possession of the pharmacy and ejected the plaintiff from the store. It is charged the defendants are wasting the assets and that McCain and McCleary are taking the profits.

RELIEF FOR TOURISTS.

A New Scheme for Paying Customs Duties on Baggage and Express Matter.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 4.—The treasury department has determined on a new method of handling express matter from abroad through the customs port at New York, which will expedite its delivery several days. Hereafter each morning the express companies will deposit a lump sum with the sub-treasury large enough to cover all possible customs charges on the day's consignment.

An arrangement has been made which will relieve incoming tourists of much annoyance in the payment of duties on personal baggage at the piers. By law the customs authorities are not allowed to accept anything but money. Under the new plan tourists can pay the customs on personal baggage through an express company, the latter paying the customs by a transfer order on the funds deposited each morning with the sub-treasury.

Duquesne Garden.

The success of the new summer opera company at Duquesne garden is now assured. The principals are rapidly gaining in favor, and each night the individual members are given a reception on their entrance. This is especially gratifying to the management, when it is taken into consideration that the company engaged for this season is unquestionably the highest salaried and the largest stock opera company in America today, and shows that the public appreciate meritorious work. For next week, by special request, Balfe's picturesque and popular opera "The Bohemian Girl," will be presented, commencing next Monday night. Balfe's work is no doubt, familiar to most of our music lovers, but the strains of "I Dreamt I Dwelt in Marble Halls," "The Heart Bowed Down," and "Then You'll Remember me," will ever remain fresh and popular in the minds of all admirers of the beautiful. Thomas H. Persse, Edith Mason, Mary Carrington, R. S. Pigott, Lelia Gardner and others will be cast to advantage.

In the Palm garden Elizabeth Murray has been engaged as a special feature, and will appear each night.

Grand Opera House.

The last week of the season at the Grand will be inaugurated next Monday, when Mr. Clarke's beautiful historical drama, "Lady Godiva" will be continued for one more week. This will positively mark the farewell week of the season at this popular playhouse. Not the least interesting feature will be the distribution of souvenir photographs of the various principals at the matinees. The theater will be handsomely decorated with flowers, palms and plants. "Lady Godiva" needs no introduction, as its unanimous hit, and is attracting a succession of crowded and delighted audiences. Many people have been turned away this week unable to get standing room. The seat sale for next week will open at the box office this morning at 9 o'clock.

"Coon Hollow Parade" Makes a Hit.

"Coon Hollow Parade," the rollicking march and two step, written by George B. Demms, which appeared with last Sunday's Gazette, is being played this week by the mandolin and guitar orchestra at Duquesne garden, and is making a great hit. It is a merry air, one of the kind which become popular and are whistled and heard everywhere. Patrons of the garden have enjoyed it very much, and there are many inquiries as to what it is.

WEEK'S WORK OF ASSEMBLY WAS BROUGHT TO END

United Presbyterian Body Concluded Its Sessions Yesterday.

RESIGNATION IS REFUSED

Assembly, Instead of Accepting Retirement of the Rev. Dr. W. J. Reid, Sr., as Principal Clerk, Made His Son an Assistant.

At 4:30 yesterday afternoon the forty-fourth general assembly of the United Presbyterian church, in session for a week in the Eighth church, Allegheny, was dissolved by the moderator, the Rev. Dr. J. C. Wilson of Erie, Pa. From many points of view it has been one of the most notable held since the organization of this religious body.

The triumph of the conservative element over the "reformers," including many prominent ministers, is considered the most notable occurrence of the assembly. It preserves intact the Westminster standards and everything provided for by them. In the words of a prominent commissioner, "It leaves the United Presbyterian body distinct in its principles and the application of them."

While the discussions on certain matters were quite lively it was remarkable that at no time did the debate reach a personal stage. In the closing prayer, offered by the Rev. Dr. J. G. Carson of Xenia, O., who has been termed the "watchdog" of the church, he referred nicely to the "spirit of brotherly love and unselfishness that had characterized every deliberation of the assembly."

Dr. Reid Honored.

Th concluding sessions were equally as important, in some respects, as the earlier ones. In the matter of the resignation of the Rev. Dr. W. J. Reid, Sr., principal clerk of the assembly, it was deemed fit to refuse this venerable minister's resignation and his son, the Rev. W. J. Reid, Jr., was appointed as his assistant.

By way of recognizing the notable work of the Rev. Dr. W. W. Barr, resigned secretary of the board of foreign missions, he has been unanimously appointed honorary secretary of the board and awarded a competence of $1,000 a year for two years. This was done because of the great help Dr. Barr's wide experience in foreign work will be to the new secretary, the Rev. Dr. Charles Watson.

The report of the ministerial relief committee was adopted, likewise its recommendations. The report states that there are now on its roll 80 beneficiaries, 33 ministers and 47 widows and orphans. One minister died during the year and 11 new names were added to the list. The total receipts amounted to $36,709.81, the total payments being $31,641.77, leaving a margin of $5,059.01. The board recommended an appropriation of $10,000 for the coming year.

An Irish Churchman.

An interesting feature of the afternoon session was the presence of the Rev. Dr. James Henry of Ireland. Dr. Henry is here in the interest of the Psalm-singing Presbyterians' convention, to be held in Belfast this summer. He was invited to speak and delivered an interesting address on the growth of the church in Ireland and the interest manifested in the coming convention.

Quite a lengthy discussion was aroused by a motion to reconsider the action of the assembly regarding the intrusting of the ways and means committee the work of raising funds for more aggressive education in Egypt and India, and the naming of five educators to assist in the work. The motion prevailed and the work was turned over to the committee on foreign missions.

Before the assembly closed resolutions were adopted thanking the pastor of the Eighth church, the Rev. W. I. Wishart, for his courteous treatment of the assembly members and also to the ladies of the local committees. Nor was the work of the press forgotten. The Rev. Dr. John A. Wilson made a motion commending the newspaper men for their "excellent reports," which was unanimously adopted.

The women who have had charge of entertaining this body were kept unusually busy during the week. Altogether they served 12 meals, with an average of 275 persons at each meal. Mrs. John McNaugher was chairman of the ladies' committee. It was made up of the ladies from the 12 churches and two missions in Allegheny city. The nominating committee announced the following:

WILL NOT SUBMIT.

Republican Majority Refuses to Be Ruled by Minority on Cuban Reciprocity Question.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 4.—(Special.)—A feeling of resentment exists among the Republican majority of the senate over the threat of being taken by the throat and held up by a minority of the party on the terms of a Cuban reciprocity bill. They say they do not propose to submit to it. An ultimatum that the bill must be a rebate measure or nothing will not be entertained.

The majority, it is explained, are entirely agreeable to a conference between the factions to canvass the situation and endeavor to locate ground upon which all Republicans may stand. To that end the committee appointed by the beet sugar senators, consisting of Messrs. Elkins, Burrows and Jones of Nevada, will be received by a committee of the other side whenever they present themselves.

PENROSE ON IMMIGRATION.

Pennsylvania Senator Says Committee Will Report Favorably on House Bill.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 4.—(Special.)—The senate committee on immigration held a lengthy session this morning considering the immigration bill that recently passed the house, and then adjourned to meet again on June 18.

After the meeting Chairman Penrose said: "The committee will undoubtedly make a favorable report on the house bill, and it will be placed on the senate calendar before this session closes. The house bill is, in brief, a codification of the present laws on the subject of immigration with an additional clause applying the educational test to all immigrants. The bill does not meet the approval of all the advocates of further restriction, but it will be a step forward in the effort to secure only the best class of immigrants for this country. I shall do everything in my power to aid in the passage of the bill."

PENSIONS FOR AGED.

Missouri Court Overrules Motion to Quash Information Filed Against Trust by Attorney General—Writ of Ouster Issued Against Packers.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Albany, N. Y., June 4.—Supreme Court Justice Chester has granted an injunction restraining certain beef packing companies of the west from carrying on business in this state in violation of the provisions of the Donnelly anti-trust law. The order was obtained upon the affidavit of D. W. Meredith, a former manager of Swift & Co.

The injunction is directed against Armour & Co., Swift & Co., Cudahy Packing Company, Hammond Company, Schwarzchild & Sulzberger Company and Nelson Morris & Co. Their managers and all persons acting for them are restrained and enjoined from fixing and determining, by combining together, the prices to be charged for meat and from agreeing among themselves as to the supply of meat to be brought into this state by them and from acting upon any understanding tending to diminish such supply.

They are also enjoined from acting under any agreement whereby the price of labor shall be affected or competition therein affected and also from maintaining uniform rules for credit to dealers or fixing uniform prices for cartage.

Attorney General Davies asked that the injunction be made permanent and Justice Chester directed that it "continue until further order of the court."

JEFFERSON CITY, MO., June 4.—Attorneys appeared before the supreme court today and asked the court to allow the Schwarzchild & Sulzberger Packing Company to accept the first count in the attorney general's information against them, to the effect that the company is operating in this state without a charter from the secretary of state. The attorney stated that if the court would accept that the company would pay the $1,000 fine imposed and take out a charter.

Attorney General Crow stated that he was willing to accept the fine if it would not bar him from proceeding against this company the same as the other companies.

The court then announced that it had overruled the motion of all the packing companies to quash the informations filed against them by the attorney general.

Attorney New, for the Sulzberger company, announced to the court that he wished to enter exceptions. This was regarded by the court and the attorney general as the first indication that the packers would carry the case to the federal courts.

The supreme court this afternoon directed a writ of ouster to issue against the Schwarzchild & Sulzberger Packing Company and suspended the same on condition that the company comply with the state laws relating to corporations within five days. The question of fine was reserved.

Brooke to Be Lieutenant General.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 4.—(Special.)—Senator Quay passed through the senate today his bill to promote Maj. Gen. John R. Brooke of Pennsylvania, the senior major general of the army, to be a lieutenant general and thereby retire him with that rank. Gen. Brooke retires by age next month and unless this bill was passed before that time he would retire with his present grade.

Holiday Wins Consulship.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 4.—(Special.)—The appointment by the president today of Ross E. Holiday of Ohio to be United States consul at Santiago, was a decided disappointment to the friends of Dr. Rex R. M. Zimmerman of Jeannette, Pa., who desired the office. Two weeks ago it seemed practically certain that Dr. Zimmerman would be appointed.

BRIGHT PROSPECT FOR CELEBRATION

GREATER PITTSBURGH FOURTH OF JULY PLANS WELL IN HAND.

Chairman A. J. Logan in Conference With Sub-Committees Arranging for New Features and Completing Plans. Steady Contribution to Fund.

The prospects for Greater Pittsburgh's Fourth of July celebration continue to grow brighter. The committees are working hard and the plans are well in hand. Col. A. J. Logan, chairman of the executive committee, is holding daily conferences with his sub-committees and will continue to do so until the minutest details have been attended to and every possible contingency provided for. Several new features are soon to be announced.

The committee on fireworks met yesterday afternoon in the office of Chairman John Barbour, Jr., and after examining the propositions submitted by different manufacturers, awarded the contract for the city's exhibition to the Paine company. The exhibition will include several new features and will be much more elaborate than anything heretofore given in Pittsburgh. It will cost $5,000, twice as much as ever spent in the past.

The details of the celebration have been left to Chairman Barbour and the display will be made from the hill back of the Pittsburgh Golf club's links in Schenley park, where 16,000 square feet of ground will be roped off for the purpose.

A Souvenir Receipt.

It was decided yesterday to issue a souvenir receipt to all contributors to the fund. The paper will be an elaborate affair, bearing a portrait of President Roosevelt, and the seal of the city, in colors.

It is proposed to make this the greatest patriotic demonstration that Pittsburghers have ever witnessed, and with the chief executive of the nation as the honor guest there is no doubt that the highest hopes of the gentlemen in charge of the arrangements will be realized.

With the wants of nearly a dozen chairmen of sub-committees to look after, Col. Logan has his hands full. He held conferences at headquarters in Municipal hall yesterday afternoon with Col. W. C. Connelly, chairman of the committee on entertainment of the visiting newspaper men.

The entertainments will be important features of the occasion, as no pains will be spared to provide good, wholesome sports of all kinds.

Committee Conferences.

Yesterday afternoon Col. Logan met J. B. Barbour and J. P. Murphy of the committees on fireworks and music, and today he will have conferences with W. C. Connelly, A. P. Moore and L. T. Brown of the press, amendment and parade committees.

Chairman Connelly of the press committee has added the following names to his committee: Louis Hirsch and Ernest Walter, representing the Volksblatt, and Matthias Wenbauer, representing the Beobachter.

The Fourth of July fund continually increases, but not quite so fast as desired. The committees are making all the necessary arrangements, feeling confident that the money will be subscribed. Chairman Carr has established headquarters in the reception room on the second floor of City hall. He gave out yesterday's receipts as follows:

VOLCANOES ARE THE WEAPONS OF CANAL'S ENEMIES

So Says Senator Morgan in Last Speech in Favor of Nicaragua.

DANGER IS NOT SERIOUS

Aged Champion of the Interoceanic Waterway Says That the Stories Told About Recent Disturbances in Central America Are Fabrications.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Washington, D. C., June 4.—Discussion of the isthmian canal was begun by the senate today. Mr. Morgan (Ala.), chairman of the committee on interoceanic canals, opened the debate, speaking nearly three hours.

A considerable portion of his speech was devoted to the recently suggested danger to the Nicaragua canal route of seismic disturbances. This danger, he concluded, after a careful review of many authorities, existed only in the imagination of those who desired to defeat any canal project. His study of the situation had convinced him that really there was greater danger from volcanic and earthquake disturbances to the Panama route than to the Nicaragua route, but he was satisfied that little danger to either was to be anticipated.

Mr. Morgan reviewed at length the political conditions in Colombia, finding in them a grave menace to the Panama route. He presented also the present phases of the diplomatic negotiations looking to the building of a canal by both the Nicaragua route and by the Panama route. During the course of his remarks, Senator Morgan said that the canal bill had been covered with volcanic soot and ashes as by a funeral pall. A part of the report of the minority on the committee, he said, was so sombre that he was surprised that the report recommended the construction of any canal at all.

He said that his committee did not regard the danger from volcanoes or earthquakes as either probable or serious, either as to the Nicaraguan or Panama route. After the volcanic and seismic disturbances of recent months, he was satisfied the danger to an isthmian canal had been lessened materially. He declared that Nicaragua had been free from seismic disturbances during the recent general disturbances; but the region about the Panama canal had been disturbed seriously by earthquakes. He quoted Minister Merry as saying that only enemies of any canal used the volcano or earthquake argument against any canal route.

He also quoted a letter from the minister of Nicaragua to this country, calling attention to the fact that the reports printed in regard to disturbances there were untrue and that the Associated Press had reported nothing of the kind, but would have done so had the stories been well founded.

He maintained that all projects other than that of the Nicaragua route were being put forward in order to defeat any canal legislation.

ELKIN WILL BE OPPOSED

If Indiana County Man Should Be Named Citizens Would Probably Support George W. Guthrie—Newly Elected Committee to Meet.

Judge Pennypacker's name will probably go on the Citizens ticket if he secures the Republican nomination at Harrisburg next week. If Judge Pennypacker is defeated and George W. Guthrie secures the Democratic gubernatorial nomination Mr. Guthrie's name will head the Citizens ticket.

The leaders of the Citizens party hope to keep out of state politics unless Attorney General Elkin is nominated. In that event the Citizens organization will be called upon to take up the cudgel against the Stone candidate. The question of state candidates will not be entered into until after the Republican state convention. In the meantime the Citizens managers are busy making arrangements for a fusion county ticket.

A call has been issued to the newly-elected Citizens county committee for a meeting tomorrow afternoon. Dr. Cadwallader Evans, chairman of the provisional organization, will be elected permanent chairman of the committee of 32, which will conduct the campaign.

Conference on Fusion.

A committee of 10 will be appointed tomorrow to confer with a like committee of Democrats regarding fusion in the county, in order to avoid a legal tangle caused by a decision of the Dauphin county court, that a political body, such as the Citizens cannot indorse the candidates of a political party.

The court ruled, however, that a political party could not be prevented from indorsing the candidates of a political body. Therefore, while the Citizens can not indorse Republican or Democratic candidates, they can nominate and the old parties can indorse the nominations of the Citizens.

In this way the Hon. John Dalzell is to be nominated for congress in the Thirtieth district by the Citizens tomorrow, and the Republicans next week. Congressman Dalzell is not expected to decline the Citizens nomination. If he accepts both nominations the Citizens anticipate that Mr. Dalzell will not participate in the campaign in Allegheny county this fall, either for or against the Citizens party.

The County Ticket.

George Mapes, secretary of the Union party, was in the city yesterday morning and called upon Thomas S. Bigelow. Mr. Mapes' mission is to arrange for the Citizens county candidates on the Union party ticket. The Citizens are said to be favorable to this arrangement.

There is a considerable rivalry among the Democrats for the few places alloted their party on the Citizens ticket. The Citizens are willing to give the Democrats the judge of orphans' court, register, clerk of courts and a county commissioner, but some of the Democratic leaders demand these four offices and half of the legislative offices, except the member of assembly from the Fourth district.

Three candidates are discussed for judge of common pleas court No. 1: J. R. McFarland, J. M. Swearingen and William Scott. J. J. Miller, a Democrat, will probably be nominated for judge of orphans court. George H. Stengel and Charles A. O'Brien are under consideration for register of wills. J. Denny O'Neil will probably be named for county recorder.

James W. Platt filed an answer to the quo warranto proceedings to oust him from select council. He denies that he is not a resident of the Second ward, and asks that the proceedings be dismissed.

SPECIAL COMMITTEE NAMED TO INVESTIGATE

Relations Between City and Certain Corporations to Be Inquired Into at Once.

The committee appointed to investigate relations between the city and corporations that operate under city franchises will likely have a meeting today. President Charles S. Crawford of common council named the committee yesterday as follows: W. C. Reitz, Thirty-fifth ward; Jacob Soffel, Thirty-second ward; Dr. George W. McNeil, Twenty-first ward. The committee is to learn the manner in which franchises have been procured, and to ascertain whether the city has a right to levy a tax on certain corporations.

The committee is given the right to make requisitions for such books or papers as may be needed, wherever they may be found, and provides for the administering of the oath to witnesses. President Crawford is made a member of the committee, and the city solicitor will be asked to assist.

President Crawford has called a meeting of common council to be held this evening for the purpose of introducing ordinances which have been approved by the finence committee, putting into effect the recommendations made by Controller John B. Larkin in his revenue message to councils. There are four of these ordinances, providing for the appointment of four revenue officers at a salary of $85 a month each; providing for the appointing of a city gauger at $1,500 a year, and a deputy at $1,000 a year; providing for a dockmaster at $900 a year; providing for the weighing of coal on city weigh scales.

It was desired also to take up and pass at this meeting the ordinance introduced in select council providing for the transfer of $7,500 from one fund to another, to provide funds for the disinfecting of buildings that have harbored contagious or infectious diseases. It was found, however, that this ordinance is in the hands of one of President John S. Lambie's "trump" committees, and that it will be at least another month before it can pass select council and get to common.

Meanwhile the bureau of health has no money with which to do this work and the dissemination of disease goes merrily on. The pernicious effect of Lambie's ridiculous committee is becoming every day more apparent.

Anti-Anarchy Bill Discussed.

WASHINGTON D. C., June 4.—The debate on the anti-anarchy bills continued all day in the house. It was without sensational features, being confined almost entirely to the legal and constitutional phases of the question. Mr. Jenkins (Wis.), and Mr. Parker (N. J.), contended that the bill did not go far enough, and that the killing of the president should be made punishable by death without any limitation whatever.

THE PLATE POOL WILL DECIDE ON PRICES TODAY

Meeting to Come to an Understanding for Next Year's Business.

NO ADVANCE IS EXPECTED

The Policy of the United States Steel Corporation, Which Will Be Represented at the Gathering, Is Generally Believed to Be Conservative.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, June 4.—Representatives of all the interests in the steel plate pool, including those of the United States Steel Corporation, will meet here tomorrow to decide whether prices shall be advanced. This is really an adjourned meeting and was postponed owing to the absence of the United States Steel officials, who were examining the plants of the combine. Manufacturers are by no means agreed upon a price policy, and forecasts of the pool's action conflict. The combine is understood to be opposed to any advance.

The United States Steel Corporation produces about one-half the total output represented by the pool. Its influence, therefore, constitutes a practical majority, and unless the advocates of an advance can make out a very strong case it is believed to be likely that prices will remain unchanged. The pool's minimum price is only nominal anyway, and is so far below the prices that are obtaining in the market as to be worthless even as a basis of calculation. If moral effect is what is wanted, the present minimum might as well be permitted to stand, as it certainly cannot do any harm. Meanwhile prices continue for actual business to advance and have reached a maximum of $2.10 per 100 pounds, New York. This is 32 cents per 100 pounds above the pool's minimum and was established on transactions for future delivery. Sales of plates for immediate delivery during the past few days have been at premiums of $5 a ton. Several sales were recently recorded at Pittsburgh at only 10 cents per 100 pounds above the pool's minimum, but these were special contracts and called for delivery 16 months hence. There is no sign of a decline in the demand for steel plates. It arises largely from the increased demands of railroads for equipment and also from the construction of new vessels. Few of the companies are looking for new business. It was learned today that the United States Steel Corporation also has been selling plates at prices higher than the pool's minimum. Whether this signifies that officials of the combine will be willing to consider an advance is the question that cannot be determined in advance of tomorrow's meeting.

Rail Prices Augur Well.

Steel manufacturers commented favorably today upon the action of the United States Steel Corporation in fixing the price of steel rails for next year's delivery at $28 a ton, the same quotation agreed upon for the current year. An official of the corporation stated that the action of the management in the matter of steel rail prices applied to all grades of iron and steel manufactured by the combine. Prices for tin plate, sheet steel, steel plate, wire, goods, tubes, hoops, structural material etc., will be governed by the price of steel rails. The same official said that the high quotations for Bessemer iron, billets, etc., would not increase the cost of manufacture on the part of the corporation.

An independent manufacturer of iron and steel said: "The action taken by the United States Steel Corporation is the best proof that can be obtained of the wonderful prosperity the steel industry is now enjoying. The fact that the books of the company for next year's business have been opened so early in the year is an extraordinary event. Not in the history of the industry have the steel mills been so crowded with business. I am now convinced that the prosperity of the steel industry would have ended long ago had it not been for the policy of the steel combine in striving to keep prices down to a reasonable level. The fact that a large number of the railroads have already contracted for next year's rail requirements is sufficient proof that they are well satisfied with the ruling price for rails. Independent companies are doing as well in harmony with the United States Steel Corporation as possible, and will give the combine all the support in their power, in order to keep prices from reaching a high level and threatening the industry. Exceptionally high prices for some unfinished steel, the

Local Stocks a Shade More Active and Steady to Firm

WINDOW GLASS GIVEN A SHARP SHOVE HIGHER

The Movement Was Sudden and Accompanied by Various Rumors.

STEEL SHARES ACTIVE

Crucible Steel Preferred Firmer and U. S. Steels Heavier—Pittsburgh Coal Preferred Advanced—Pittsburgh Brewing Common Higher.

The market on the Pittsburgh stock exchange yesterday, while still dull, was, nevertheless, more active than it has been for some days, the sales amounting to nearly 7,500 shares and $9,000 bonds. The tone was also better, being quite firm in spots, though heavy in others. The close was steady to firm and somewhat more lively than during the earlier portions of the day. The principal features of the business was in American Window Glass common, which opened at 58¾ and advanced sharply toward the close to 61¾, finishing finally at 61¼, a gain for the day of 2⅝. The advance was probably due to manipulation, but by some was attributed to a report that the American Window Glass Company had ordered a shutdown and had caught the independents short of 1,000,000 boxes. An inside house, on apparently the best of authority, pronounced the report as absurd, saying the American company would keep on as long as its men would work. Of course, if a shut-down was ordered and the independents had oversold 1,000,000 boxes and had to go into the market to get them, it would probably be a big bull card for the American. It is not supposed that the latter company would accommodate its rival except at an enormous advantage. All told, 1,110 shares changed hands and the stock finished quite firm at 61@61⅜. The preferred advanced $1 to 93½ on small sales.

In the remainder of the list the steel and coal shares excited the greatest interest. Crucible Steel preferred was quite firm and advanced ⅝ to 86⅜ on sales of nearly 1,500 shares. The common sold a little over 500 at 21¾@21⅞, closing steady with a loss of ⅛. The directors yesterday elected Reuben Miller president, but the news did not reach the street in definite form until after the market had closed. Mr. Snyder would not accept the office. United States Steel common sold almost 600 shares and was quite heavy, declining to 39¾. The preferred was very dull at 89⅝@90. In the coal group River common led the sales, an inside house taking 1,200 shares at 12⅝, the last previous price. The preferred was fractionally higher at 42¼ for a small lot. Pittsburgh Coal common sold about 350 shares at 24 and closed firmer at 24⅛ bid and 24¼ asked. The preferred, which was dull and heavy until the late trading, grew firmer and advanced to 89½, a gain of ⅝. Pittsburgh Brewing common was firmer and ½ higher at 26½, the demand being much larger than the offerings. There was no trading in Electric seconds, which quoted at 106 bid and 107 asked. Westinghouse Airbrake sold only 5 shares at 185, the last price.

In the banking group very little was done, none of the selling prices showing a change. In the quotations Union Trust Company was bid up $300 to $1,500, the highest price ever offered for a local bank or trust stock. City Deposit bank advanced $3 to $165, also a new high record. The fact that leading interests in both these institutions are the same accounts for a rumor that the trust company would absorb the bank as it did the Mellons and Citizens' National, but President McEldowney pronounced the report as entirely without foundation and concluded by saying: "The Union Trust Company has done all it will do. It is not in any deal of any kind and is not contemplating any." Pittsburgh National Bank of Commerce was $6 higher at 431 bid, a new high record, and Second National of Pittsburgh advanced $10 to $840 bid. There was no other changes of note. Bonds were steady to firm, there being one especially large demand—$200,000 in two lots—for Pittsburgh Brewing 6s, which advanced to 113¼ on sales of $5,000.

Near the close 3 shares of Colonial Trust offered at 280.

Commonwealth Real Estate & Trust Company 210 bid.

Marlin was still bidding $1.50 for 1,000 Trade Dollar Mining.

Pittsburgh & Charleroi Street Railway 5s were quoted at 106 bid.

At the close Barbour wanted 10 sell 2 shares Westinghouse Airbrake at 185.

Pittsburgh, Harmony, Butler & Connellsville Street Railway 5s were quoted at 100 bid.

Sprout offered 500 United States Steel at 40 and Hall bid 39⅝ for 500, in the early dealings.

N. W. Stevenson was still offering from 1,000 to 15,000 Consolidated Bonanza Gold Mining at $2.50.

Preston, Watt & Schoyer made the only trade in Westinghouse Airbrake, selling 5 shares at 185 about noon.

At the commencement of the last hour 50⅝ was bid for 500 American Window Glass common, "all or none."

Just before the close Hill & Co. bid 26½ for 500 Pittsburgh Brewing preferred and 115 for $100,000 of the bonds.

Walker bid $1,000, an advance of $300, and a new high record, for all the Union Trust Company stock on the floor.

The stock of the Detroit United Railway was first traded in on the New York stock exchange yesterday, selling at 75.

Lappe, who bought largely of Pittsburgh Brewing common Tuesday, was a buyer of both the common and preferred yesterday.

Hill & Co. bid 89⅝ for 500 Pittsburgh Coal preferred just before the close; this was after selling 400 at Spiegel & Co.'s for 89½.

Directors of the Fuller Construction Company meet on June 17 when action may be taken on declaring a common dividend.

The New York banks have made a heavy loss again this week on account of the trial for the week so far being something over $1,000,000.

The largest single trade of the forenoon was 500 River Coal common, which Whitney & Stephenson bought from Robinson Bros. Before the close they bought 700 more in a block from Montgomery.

Holders of Tide Water Steel common stock may on or before June 10 subscribe to shares of the preferred stock to which they may be entitled.

Walker bid 113¼ for $100,000 Pittsburgh Brewing 6s just before the close, and then offered to trade either way at 113½; then he offered $10,000 at 113 and bid 112¾ for $10,000.

The Barney & Smith stockholders voted to cancel $1,500,000 of the common stock. The annual report showed a surplus of $296,500 after deducting for interest, dividends and improvements.

Consolidated Tobacco 4s and Continental Tobacco preferred were again strong and active and higher. Wright & Co. have issued a circular predict higher prices for these securities. The earnings of several tobacco companies are known to be excellent.

There is some reveral of reports about gold shipments. It is stated, however, that large amounts of Klondyke gold will soon begin to arrive at the Pacific coast cities and this, it is held, would more than offset any export of gold which are likely to take place in the immediate future.

The first trades of the day were in Crucible Steel preferred, 400 shares changing hands at 86; then Lutz & Moore sold the sole sellers, Robinson Bros. taking 400 and Marlin the remainder; Mr. Marlin, acting for Darr, Lutz & Moore, has marketed several thousand shares of this stock recently.

The Bellevue Realty, Savings & Trust Company elected the following officers: President, William Jenkinson; secretary and treasurer, Ira Harper; assistant secretary, Ralph Witherspoon. Directors—Messrs. Bell, of the National bank, which was merged into the trust company, with the addition of Mr. Harper, compose the board of the new institution.

The stockholders of the Diamond National bank at a special meeting yesterday unanimously approved the recommendation of the directors that the stock be increased from $200,000 to $500,000. The new stock will be put out at par, $100 a share, the holders of one share having the right to subscribe for 1½ shares of new stock, payments for which must be made on or before July 1. As $300 per share goes to surplus, the latter will be increased from $250,000 to $1,150,000, in addition to which there are undivided profits of $82,000.

The street is bulling a number of railroad stocks at 170 or higher on the expectation that they will be put on a 7 per cent dividend basis. Metropolitan, in the second largest city in the world, with what is acknowledged to be the finest street car system in the world, is a guaranteed 7 per cent stock, with $30,000,000 cash behind the guarantee. Whether this guarantee is perpetual or not it certainly will be good for a long time. I think I would rather bull the at 150 than St. Paul at 170 on the basis of 7.—Dietz.

A New York dispatch says: There is good authority for the statement that H. C. Frick will be elected a director of the Chicago & Northwestern at the annual meeting. He will represent the so-called western interests, who have this year acquired a large stockholding. There has been talk recently that one of the Moores or President Leeds of Rock Island would be admitted to the board. The statement was made today that the dividend of Northwestern common and preferred will be increased by the declaration of a 1 per cent extra rate on each.

The stockholders of the National City Bank of New York have voted in favor of an increase in capital stock from $10,000,000 to $25,000,000 and increase in surplus from approximately $7,500,000 to $15,000,000. There will be issued 150,000 shares of new stock, which will be sold to the present shareholders at $250 a share. This will provide the $15,000,000 of new capital stock and an additional $50 on each share will make up the additional $7,500,000 of surplus. The National City bank a capital and surplus of $40,000,000. This is considerably in excess of any other bank in the United States.

Coffee and Sugar.

NEW YORK, June 4.—The coffee market opened steady, with prices 5 to 10 points lower, and thereafter did not vary more than 5 points. Trade was fairly active and for the most part comprised liquidation of long contracts on the one hand and covering by the more easily satisfied shorts on the other. Importers continued to offer coffee for late months' delivery; the clique gave some slight support to the market and the report from accumulative centers in Brazil were bearish. The market closed steady with prices net 5 to 15 points lower. Spot coffee was dull and easy, including July at 4.95c, September at 5.10c, October at 5.15c, December at 5.30@5.40c, January at 5.45c, March at 5.55 @5.60c, May at 5.65c. Sugar—Raw, firm; fair refining, 2⅝c; centrifugal test, 3.7-16c; molasses sugar, 2⅜c; refined, firm.

Drygoods Market.

NEW YORK, June 4.—Conditions in the local drygoods market show no change of importance from those of the week. Prices have been made for fall points and show a slight reduction and principally for the purpose of inducing fall trade, although little can be noted in the way of developments.

FOURTH AVENUE BUSINESS LOT BRINGS $30,000

Robert C. Hall Disposes of Part of Recent Purchase.

THREE EAST END SALES

May Building in Allegheny Amounted to $207,950—The Pennsylvania Is After East End Board of Trade Building—Work in McKees Rocks.

Robert C. Hall has conveyed to Richard Goodman of Lenox, Mass., an undivided one-half interest in the Anton Lutz property in Fourth avenue for $30,000. The lot is irregular in shape, having a frontage of 47 feet in Fourth avenue, near the northeast corner of Fourth avenue and Ferry street, 20 feet in Ferry street and an extreme width of 80 feet 4 inches. It is improved with two-story brick buildings. Mr. Hall purchased the lot from Mr. Lutz about a month ago for $55,000. The present purchaser takes the property for an investment and no changes are contemplated.

Through the agency of Liggett & Goehring, D. H. Goehring has sold the property at No. 6123 Marchand street, near Shady avenue, for $14,000. The purchaser is Mrs. Ann E. Parks, who will occupy the property as a home. The lot measures 48x125 feet and the residence is a handsome colonial brick house containing 12 rooms.

Fair Showing on North Side.

According to the report of building operations in Allegheny for May, there is still a fair degree of activity in spite of unfavorable conditions. The 83 permits issued called for $207,950. The Fifteenth ward made the best showing, having a total of $57,800. Of the permits granted, 58 were for new buildings and 27 for alterations and repairs. Eighteen requests were granted for brick buildings, 53 for frame, 11 for brick veneered, one for stone and two for iron clad buildings.

The East End board of trade has been offered $25,000 for its new home in Shady avenue, which was formally opened with a banquet this week. The property, which measures 40x169 feet, situated near the south end of the viaduct and almost directly across Shady avenue from the Mellon and Steck properties which were sold last week to the Pennsylvania railroad. The board paid $15,600 for the property a few weeks ago and spent $2,000 in repairing. It is said that the offer, which is supposed to have come indirectly from the Pennsylvania railroad, will not be considered, as the board has no notion of moving again at present.

Two East End Houses Sold.

Through the office of F. H. Trembly, William A. Minteer has disposed of a fine residence property at the southeast corner of Sherrett and Mt. Vernon streets, Twenty-first ward, for $15,000. The lot is 40x187 feet and was purchased by Frank Stewart.

The Real Estate Trust Company has sold for Charles L. Walther, to John A. Taylor, a property in the west side of North Negley avenue, near Homer street, Nineteenth ward, for $12,250. The lot measures 45x151 feet and has erected thereon a fine brick residence.

The Presbyterian congregation of Knoxville, whose place of worship was nearly wrecked during a recent hurricane, has commissioned Architects Craig, Hodgens & Burns to prepare plans for a new edifice. The new church will be of brick with handsome terra cotta trimmings and will be somewhat larger than the old structure. It will cost at least $25,000.

Building Homes for Workmen.

The Chartiers Home Building Company of McKees Rocks has under way 20 six-room frame houses which will cost about $3,000 each. They are being built on the company's new plan near the McKay chain works, and will be ready for occupancy about August 1. The demand for such houses in McKees Rocks is so great at present that a large number of workmen have tried in vain to get homes near their work and are boarding in Pittsburgh and Allegheny in consequence. As soon as these houses are completed the company expects to build 40 more similar houses, to be done in time for the winter.

Architect F. C. Sauer is taking bids on the 10-room brick school house which he will build in Baltimore, Md., for the Bohemian Catholic congregation of that city. The building will cost $28,000. The same architect is preparing plans for a two-story brick convent, to be built for the Sisters of the same church, at a cost of $8,000.

The deed was registered yesterday in the sale of the Real Estate Savings bank property, 24x85 feet, at No. 224 Fourth avenue. The purchaser, as announced several days ago in The Gazette, was D. Herbert Hostetter, and the consideration $57,000.

WATER RAPIDLY FLOWING INTO THE COAL MINES

Mine Official Admits Last Strike Is More Serious Than First Reported.

MINERS MAKING GAINS

More Men Quit Work, but Operators Say They Have Plenty of Resources to Draw On—Few Small Cases of Violence.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Wilkesbarre, Pa., June 4.—More engineers, firemen and pump runners obeyed the call of the miners' union and struck today, but in most instances the operators were able to fill their places. The Susquehanna Coal Company's colliery No. 5, at Nanticoke, was the worst sufferer, all the firemen refusing to go to work, which compelled the company to shut down the engines. This colliery furnishes the power for the water supply of Nanticoke, and unless the engines are again started the borough will have a water famine.

It was a comparatively quiet day in the Wyoming valley. There was the usual gathering of crowds at several collieries at starting and stopping time, but nothing of a serious nature occurred. Some men were stoned on their way to and from work, and several were thrown into pools of water. The fear of bodily harm is causing more men to quit work than are the arguments of the strikers.

President Mitchell was kept busy all day in his headquarters. He had nothing to say regarding his visit to Scranton last night, where he met Frank P. Sargent, chief of the locomotive firemen.

Strike Progress Favorable.

Regarding the general strike situation, he said everything was progressing satisfactorily, that more men were coming out each day and that the idle men are behaving themselves well. In emphasizing the latter statement, Mr. Mitchell said the chief of the Wilkesbarre police told him that during the 21 days the strike has been on there have been fewer arrests than during the same number of days prior to the suspension of work. The national president would make no comment when informed that the New York board of trade had decided to ask President Roosevelt to take up the task of trying to end the strike.

A mining official declares he has positive information that most of the mines in the Schuylkill region are accumulating water. The Reading company's collieries are the chief sufferers. In the Hazleton, Wilkesbarre and Scranton districts the condition is not so bad.

MAHANOY CITY, PA., June 4.—Strikers' pickets were out in force today and turned back bosses on their way to work at Tunnel Ridge colliery. The water is rising rapidly in the mine and unless pumping is resumed soon the pulmation of the underground workings is inevitable. Mine Foreman Terrill was kept a prisoner at the colliery two hours last night through fear of violence.

Ask Mayor for Protection.

The Philadelphia & Reading Coal & Iron Company, through counsel, has served notice upon Mayor Leonard that its employes have been mobbed in the streets on their way to work. Mayor Leonard replied that he would preserve peace at all hazards.

HAZLETON, PA., June 4.—Sheriff Albert Jacobs said today: "I have received letters from most of the coal companies in the county notifying me that their collieries are in danger of being flooded. They ask that I protect their pumpmen from violence in this work. So far as I can learn there has been no trouble anywhere.

Eleven imported men were kidnaped at Hazlebrook colliery by the striking mine workers last night and sent back to Philadelphia today. About 300 men from Philadelphia reached Hazleton on a special train early today.

Half Priced Millinery Fresh as a June Morning.

You can't go amiss on your Hat—any kind you have in mind to wear—if you come to this special sale, for there is nearly as great variety as at the start, and only half as much to pay.

A Woman's Extra.

Notice is given that the Ladies' Tailoring and Dress-Making departments are ready to accept orders for Tailor Gowns, Costumes and Waists, also Wraps for much less than regular season's prices.

Four days of beautiful June have passed and no four Summer days ever saw such selling as was the lot of this Millinery department.

Not all Hats and Toques have been reduced, but the major portion of the variety has had the prices brought down to the half way line, and it is this fact that is making itself felt.

No woman, as we have often said, ever has too many hats, and when prices are down the inclination is strong to get just one more.

Untrimmed Hats that sold for 50c now 25c; $1 Hats for 50c; $2 Hats for $1. All the straws, all the colors worn.

Paris-Made Flowers of extra fineness — half prices in keeping with the hats—every variety—25c bunches 10c; 50c bunches 25c; $1 bunches 50c; $2 bunches $1.

Shirtwaist Hats, just right for everyday wear—some of them a bit mussed from handling—$2.50 hats for $1; $3.50 for $2.25; $5 for $3.50; $8 for $5; $10 for $8. We don't suppose you could find the mussed part.

One great case full of Model Hats—perfect beauties—together with Toques, for half prices; $35 hats $17.50; $28 hats $14; $25 hats $12.50; $20 hats $10; $15 hats $7.50; $7.50 hats $5.

The Toques reduced the same way.

Children's Broad-Brim Sailor Hats for yard and rough wear—all sizes—25c, 50c, 75c, $1 and up.

New Linen Hats for children—all sorts and shapes.

Another Ribbon Sale.

These a good many pennies a yard less than usual.

3½-inch Fancy Ribbons—pure silk—15c a yard instead of 25c.

4½ and 5 inch Satin Liberty Ribbons—25c a yard instead of 50c; 30c a yard instead of 65c.

4 and 4½ inch plain Taffeta Ribbons—pure silk—22c a yard instead of 40c; 25c instead of 45c.

There are black, cream, white, pink, blue, nile, maise and lots of other good shades.

To Expectant Graduates.

Possibly the graduation dress you had made doesn't fit a bit nice, perhaps it is hideous—(a woman's word); or maybe you cannot have the dress finished in time. All difficulties are overcome in our second floor Suit Department.

Prettiest made dresses of prettiest materials, for $18.50, $20, $25, $30 and up to $75.

Will women in general allow us to say that if the feminine idea regarding Shirtwaist Suits cannot be satisfied here, both as to price and quality of suit, it will be difficult to have it satisfied any place in town. Shirtwaist Suits from $3 up to $40.

Nice for driving, traveling, or for evening wear where the matter of conventional dress is not considered.

Special Tile Lined Refrigerators for $24.

We don't suppose there was ever such a good refrigerator offered for any such price. We do not intend to tell why we make the offer:

It is the regular family size. Measurements: Outside, 30x19x45; Ice Chamber, 18¾x12½x10½; Provision Chamber, 20½x12x20; Weight, 200 pounds; Ice capacity, 60 pounds.

People who have been thinking of a new refrigerator are invited to the House Furnishing Department, basement, to see this greatest refrigerator bargain.

Muslin Underclothes.

The sale goes on busily and we expect it to go on for several days before there is any break in variety.

The crucial test of former sales was the fineness and finish of the underclothes. That test is still depended upon to make this sale overreach the best record.

Such soft, dainty undermuslins for a third under regular retail prices is not only marvelous to the everyday customer, but it is really a commercial marvel.

Do we hear someone ask about skimping? Why, bless you, these are all high-grade garments and are unused to such a common word. We'll admit, however, they are sold for skimpy prices.

Just a bulletin or two:

Nightgowns of excellent muslin, finished with tucked yokes and embroidery, 50c.

Nightgowns of muslin, with such finishes as hemstitched tucks and embroidery insertion, solidly embroidered yoke, lace and feather-stitched yoke, 75c.

Drawers of cambric and muslin, trimmed with lace and embroidery, 25c and 50c.

Trimmings for Summer Dresses.
